

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

MINUTES
SEVENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION,
United Daughters of the Confederacy.

FIRST DAY.

The United Daughters of the Confederacy met in their Seventh Annual Convention in the hall of the House of Representatives, where the first Confederate Congress met, in Montgomery, Ala.—the first capital of the Confederacy—on Wednesday, November 14, 1900. The Legislature of Alabama, being in session, adjourned that the United Daughters of the Confederacy might hold their first meeting in the State Capitol, which gave birth to the Confederate States. All the Daughters' hearts were filled with emotion as they approached the first Capitol of the Confederacy, and with reverence they each stopped and viewed the gold star inlaid in the stone in the balcony by the Sophie Bibb Chapter in commemoration of the spot where President Jefferson Davis delivered his inaugural address.

When the President, Mrs. E. G. Weed, called the assembly to order, the hall was filled with the representative men and women of the South, and proceedings were begun by Rev. Neal Anderson, of Montgomery, reading parts of two chapters from the Bible on which Jefferson Davis took the oath of office when he was inaugurated President of the Confederate States. The two chapters read from were Matt. 26: 6-10 and Prov. 31: 10-31. After the reading, he delivered a heartfelt prayer, in which he tenderly remembered Mrs. Jefferson Davis and Mrs. Stonewall Jackson, both of whom were too feeble to attend the Convention.

Mrs. Chappell Cory, President of the Cradle of the Confederacy Chapter, in behalf of the four Chapters of Montgomery, welcomed the Daughters to Montgomery in the following fluent and heartfelt address:

ADDRESS OF WELCOME BY MRS. CHAPPELL CORY.

The wide gates of Montgomery never swung back to the sound of a gladder welcome than for you; the great heart of her people never throbbed with a finer joy or felt a tenderer thrill; for Montgomery is the typical city of the South, standing for the old and the new, ready with a smile for the eastern sun, but not yet forgetting the hallowed tear of memory for the sun that sunk so many years ago. So gladness and overflow of hospitality are here for you, while close on laughter treads the sad, sweet recollection of the cause you stand for and the days you keep green. There is warm clasping of the hand and prompt opening of every door and music and song and joy. There is also a deep wellspring of tenderness and solemn sympathy, full to the brim and overflowing, for all that you hold dear and which makes this hour of greeting and every hour of this great Convention a sacred treasure room in our hearts and lives.

You have come from many places and from many States—some, from cities where the red glare of battle lit the skies; some, from old places over which the muse of history chants perpetually songs of other days; some, from where great heroes sleep in shrines that the faithful will guard always; some, from new-grown centers, and some have crossed the line from which later deeds of mutual help and daring have brushed the last traces of hostility; some, from the "Lone Star State," the new giant of the West, where so late a stricken city lay and thought on war's severest ruin as playhouse wrecks by contrast with the storm's rude fury, where heroism shone bright as ever in the front of battle, where the rush of sympathy proved, in spite of war and memories of wrong and suffering, there is still a universal brotherhood of man. From wheresoever you come—from farmhouse, hamlet, town, or city; from cherished landmark of the Confederacy, or where no steed of war's hard hoof was ever planted—we know your hearts are beating in a single time to a single hymn of love for the cause and for the men who died and for the great principles which will never die; and because you love and cherish these we know you love Montgomery and have come to see her loyal and generous people, and to go away loving them, too.

The old, oaken doors in the hall below have opened to many an honored guest; the old dome above us has looked down on many a throng shouting welcome to the noble and the brave. Only a few days gone, and unnumbered thousands gathered here in hearty greeting to a young hero and an older one, whose names are forever linked into this new era of peace and brotherhood, and whose deeds are brighter for their part in robbing the past of bitterness and reconciling us all to that Providence which we long could only trust, not understanding its harsh decrees.

Only a few years ago, so young in time as to seem but yesterday, a grand old man came to lay the first stone where stands the monument out yonder. Up the wide streets and over the wide grounds and through the old building came a rushing throng as of mighty winds, and hearts were glad and hearts were sad, and tears of joy were frequent as its smile. Bearded men and little children, women whose hearts were asleep in unmarked graves, and the young and the fair united in one great outpouring of thankful welcome to see for one last time the luminous sun of a grand day ere it sunk for evermore—the same sun that rose on this selfsame spot and whose first beams were greeted in their splendor with the applause of coming victory and grandeur. Such welcome was never given man since time began; for all can shout when the conqueror comes, but this was very love.

And so is this welcome which we give to you. You cherish the noble deeds of a noble race. You stand before the world the living witness that the past is not dead, but all in it that was good and great and true still lives and has its worshippers. You do not scatter flowers in a victor's path; you water violets on the graves of honor and of valor; and to you the selfsame welcome of the heart goes out as went that day to Jefferson Davis, the martyr chieftain of our sacred cause. If crowding thousands do not shout and drums are silent and no glittering bayonets marshal you to your seats of honor, know that the loyal daughters of Montgomery are here to put their arms around you, every one, and clasp you to their hearts and love you there and rest you there.

The address was greatly enjoyed, and appreciation was shown by frequent interruptions of applause.

In behalf of the Alabama State Division, Mrs. John A. Kirkpatrick, of Montgomery, its President, welcomed the Daughters in terms that reached the heart of every member of the Convention, as follows:

Daughters of the Confederacy:

I bid you welcome to Alabama, welcome to that grand old State which gave to our loved Confederacy so many brave men, who marched to death, willing to lay down their lives to preserve the principles of liberty and the God-given right of self-government.

From all parts of our Southland you have come, called hither by the same unswerving loyalty to the memories and traditions of the old South and devotion to the principles of the "lost cause." What a world of memories come trooping forth at the very mention of that "lost cause!" What a feeling of sadness sweeps across the soul at the recollection of buried hopes, battles, triumphs, and unselfish suffering! That "lost cause" and the heroic efforts made to sustain it will live in memory till the stars shall pale and fade away and history shall have recorded the last period of time. Never did a cause evoke so much of high heroism, of patient endurance, and of self-denying patriotism. To it were given the daring deeds of the youthful warrior, the mature counsel of the aged statesman, while it was rewarded by the smiles and ennobled by the tears and prayers of devoted women.

The bonnie blue flag no longer waves over this dome; the armies which almost made a new nation among the people of the earth have long since disbanded. Peace has spread her snow-white pinions over our land, and Prosperity reigns where War was wont to devastate.

The flight of years has brought no diminution in your faith in the justice of what was battled for in the stormy past, nor a disposition to hide amid the hustling progress of the present the glory and achievements of Southern prowess.

More than a quarter of a century ago these old walls looked down upon a thrilling scene, the beginning of Confederate history. To-day they behold a strange spectacle; for here, in this very capitol, in which was born the storm-cradled nation that fell—that loved Confederacy so dear to our hearts—here, under the flag of the victor, we, true daughters of brave Southern sires, have assembled as an association whose avowed purpose is to commemorate the heroic deeds of our dead and hand down true history to our children. In all history there is no record of any such society as ours. In all the bygone years never have the women of any defeated people been banded together for the sublime purpose of proving the rightfulness of the cause for which their people fought and caring for the weak and afflicted among those who survived the conflict. In all the cycles of the past there exists no monument by the women of any land to secure the record of the truth in history about a lost, yet sacred, cause.

We have met here now, united in our work for a common purpose, grand in its origin, patriotic in its undertaking, and beautiful in its ministrations. The bond between us is necessarily a strong one, and the prosecution of our work but unites us the more closely to each other. Therefore, in the name of the thousand Daughters of the Confederacy who compose the Division of Alabama, I bid you welcome; in the name of every Confederate Veteran within this Commonwealth, I bid you welcome; in the name of those Southern heroes who sleep their last sleep and whose kindred we are, I bid you welcome. Our hearts are yours, our homes are yours, and to us you must not and shall not be the stranger within our gates. Welcome, thrice welcome, to Alabama!

Mrs. Edwin G. Weed, of Jacksonville, Fla., President of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, responded to these addresses of welcome for the Association, voicing the feeling of each Daughter present. Her address was as follows:

In the name of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, her delegates and visiting members, I thank you, sisters of Alabama, for your words of loving welcome to this charming and historic city. When we accepted your invitation last November in Richmond, we fully realized all that invitation carried of loving courtesy. Alabama's "present copies fair her past." Since the day the Indian chieftain planted his staff in her sunlit sod and proclaimed his "Alabama," she has ever been first in deeds of gracious hospitality. In the dark days of 1861, when the seven Southern States had left their father's house, it was Alabama who opened wide her heart and her doors and invited them to come in. In response to her loving call the great men from all parts of the South assembled here, and in this beautiful city of Montgomery was born the Southern Confederacy. Within these walls her first Congress assembled, and here were elected the officers to whose care the young Confederacy was committed. Mississippi gave her peerless son, Jefferson Davis, in whose hands we gladly placed the reins of government; Georgia placed Stephens by his side. Meminger, of South Carolina; Mallory, of Florida; Leroy P. Walker, of Alabama; Judah P. Benjamin, of Louisiana; and John H. Reagan, of Texas, composed the first Cabinet of the Southern Confederacy. They have all left us now, save Reagan, of Texas. They have "crossed the river" and rest from their labors. On the steps of this building, holding in his hands this very Bible, Jefferson Davis took his oath of office and pledged himself to the faithful performance of his duties as President of the Southern Confederacy. Truly, my friends, we stand on "holy ground." Forty years have elapsed since these stirring scenes were enacted, and to-day we, the women of the South, the United Daughters of the Confederacy, meet here to renew our vows of loyalty to the sacred memories of the past. Forty years is technically a generation, but to loyal, loving hearts time has no limit. The great four years of glorious deeds of valor and fortitude have gone from us; the bitter years of "reconstruction," as it was called, are over; "eighteen hundred" is a thing of the past, and a new century is with us; but the hearts of Southern women are faithful and loyal. Time has no power to obliterate from our minds the memory of the deeds of heroism enacted during those four years of warfare and struggle or to take from our hearts the devotion and grateful love they hold for the heroes of the South, from the immortal Lee to the youngest private in her service. We experience no regret, we feel no shame, for "glory sits beside our grief."

Standing here to-day, we realize all the great State of Alabama has done for us. Though it was deemed necessary to remove the capital to Richmond, Montgomery will ever be dear to our hearts as the birth-place of the Southern Confederacy. And so, Alabamians, we thank you with grateful appreciation for your welcome of to-day. We love you for your hospitality in the past, and, in the realization of that past and present, we gladly trust you for the future, feeling confident that the fair fame of the land we love so dearly will ever be sacredly guarded by Alabama's sons and daughters, the descendants of the patriots of 1861.

At the conclusion of Mrs. Weed's address Mrs. J. D. Beale, of Montgomery, introduced Mrs. Virginia Clay Clopton, of Huntsville, to the Convention.

Mrs. Clopton told of her thrilling experience while in prison at Fortress Monroe with her husband and President Davis. She spoke of the time when a Yankee divided his coffee with her and permitted her to make a cup for President Davis.

Mrs. L. G. Dawson, of Montgomery, presented to the United Daughters of the Confederacy a large bunch of red and white carnations, with a card attached, which contained these words: "May these sweet floral messengers express to you the loyal love and every good wish that Southern hearts can give."

Mrs. M. C. Goodlett, Honorary President, was presented to the Convention, and in a few appropriate and well-chosen remarks told of her work and experience in the organization of the Association.

The Convention then adjourned to meet at 3 P.M. in the Auditorium.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Convention was called to order at 3 o'clock by the President, Mrs. Weed.

Mrs. Edwin H. O'Brien, of Virginia, said that the resolution offered by Miss Rowland, of Virginia, at the Richmond Convention, had been erroneously printed in the Minutes, and moved that it be correctly printed in the Minutes of this Convention. This motion was seconded by Mrs. R. C. Cooley, of Florida, and was adopted. The following is Miss Rowland's resolution as corrected, together with an explanatory statement in regard to it:

A CORRECTION FOR THE MINUTES OF THE U. D. C. CONVENTION.

The following resolution on the birthday of President Davis was offered by Miss Kate Mason Rowland at the Sixth Annual Convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, in Richmond, on the last night of the session—Saturday, November 11, 1899:

“Resolved, That June 3, 1900, and each recurring anniversary of that day, shall be celebrated by this Association with appropriate ceremonies, so that the birthday of Jefferson Davis, our honored Confederate President, may be kept in perpetual remembrance by the people.”

This resolution was amended by Mrs. Cooley, of Florida, and the amendment may be seen on pages 86, 87 of the published Minutes of the Richmond Convention. Both resolution and amendment were adopted by vote of the Convention. No such resolution or “motion” as that purporting to have been “offered” by Miss Kate Mason Rowland on page 86, and there stated to have been “tabled,” was ever made by Miss Rowland. As the Minutes of each session of the Convention were read and corrected by the Convention, except this, the last session (Saturday night's session), no opportunity has been given the members of the Seventeenth Virginia Regiment Chapter, of which Miss Kate Mason Rowland is a voting member, to correct this grave and important error in the Minutes. The delegates from this Chapter, or their proxy, now make this correction, and ask that in the Minutes of the Montgomery Convention this paper be given a place. The resolution offered by Miss Kate Mason Rowland is in the exact language of the one offered by her in Baltimore at the Convention of 1897, and may be seen in its Minutes (page 45).

The Richmond Chapter, Grand Division of Virginia, appointed a committee of its members to petition the Virginia Legislature at its last session to make a school holiday, if not a bank holiday, of June 3, and to close the public offices on that day after twelve o'clock; also to have the flag of the State hoisted over the Capitol Building. The Seventeenth Virginia Regiment united with the Richmond Chapter in this petition. Miss Kate Mason Rowland was appointed Chairman of the committee, she being a member also of the Richmond Chapter and eligible to work for it through voting and holding office, being at present a member of its Historical Committee in the Seventeenth Virginia Regiment Chapter. It was understood, moreover, that this committee represented not one Chapter or one Division, but that it was acting for both the Grand Division and the Virginia State Division. A letter was received by its Chairman from the President of the Virginia State Division and from the Norfolk Chapter indorsing the work of the Richmond Chapter in its efforts to secure the holiday of June 3. The petition of the Daughters of the Confederacy of Virginia, presented and ably and eloquently advocated by members of both houses of the Virginia Assembly, resulted in the committee's complete success. June 3 was made a holiday, as described, by the State of Virginia, without a dissenting vote, on February 23, 1900.

Mrs. W. A. Gayle, Chairman of the Committee on Credentials, submitted the report of the committee, which showed a smaller representation than was claimed, Mrs. N. V. Randolph, of Virginia, contending that Chapters that had paid dues were entitled to representation, although their credentials had not been received by the committee.

Mrs. E. H. O'Brien, of Virginia, moved that the rules be suspended, and that the Chapters be allowed representation according to the per capita tax report of the Treasurer.

This was objected to by the Chairman of the committee, she contending that, according to the Constitution, no votes could be counted other than those sent in.

Mrs. Gayle asked that the committee be discharged, as it had fulfilled its mission as required by the Constitution, and could do nothing more.

Mrs. P. M. Moody, of Mississippi, moved that the report of the committee be accepted as read.

After some discussion as to whether the report was to be accepted or adopted, the motion was put, and carried.

We, the Credentials Committee of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, in Convention assembled, who were appointed by our honored President, Mrs. Edwin G. Weed, beg leave to report that the States and Territories herein named are entitled to the following representation:

The Convention then adjourned to meet on Thursday morning, November 15, at 10 A.M., in the Court Street Methodist Church.

SECOND DAY.

THURSDAY, November 15, 1900.

The Convention was called to order in the Court Street Methodist Church at 10 A.M. by the President, Mrs. Weed.

Proceedings were opened by Rev. Mr. Lamar reading a chapter from Philippians and delivering a short prayer. The minutes of the preceding meeting were then read and approved.

On motion of Mrs. E. H. O'Brien, of Virginia, the press was requested to give the United Daughters of the Confederacy its proper title, which is the "United Daughters of the Confederacy," and not the "National United Daughters of the Confederacy."

The President outlined to the Convention the work she had been engaged in during the past year in a very clear and comprehensive manner, which was favorably received by the Convention. Her address is as follows:

ANNUAL ADDRESS.

To the United Daughters of the Confederacy:

In the twelve months that have passed since last we met so much has been accomplished in our organization of splendid, faithful work that I feel sure you will be glad to look with me over the six years of our life as an association and realize all the comfort and encouragement that comes from work well and successfully done.

On September 10, 1894, in the city of Nashville, Tenn., our first meeting was held. Three States—Georgia, Texas, and Tennessee—were represented. In Richmond, Va., in November, 1899, at our annual meeting, there were representatives from twenty States, three hundred and sixty-one Chapters, and nearly eighteen thousand members. Since then our membership has been greatly increased, and when our Recording Secretary reads her report you will, I am sure, find that we have over twenty thousand members. This is the result of earnest, faithful work by the women of the South. From every part of the country comes the same report of growth and progress. We have now Chapters in New York, Philadelphia, Indiana, and Indian Territory, and from the Pacific Coast come the loving greetings of four California Chapters. My dear sisters, do you realize what this growth means? It means love, gratitude, fidelity; it means the cause we love is as dear in her day of adversity as in the day of our brightest hopes and anticipations; it means that love rises in the hearts of Southern women superior to defeat; it means that Appomattox, with its broken ranks of half-starved, ragged soldiers, is as dear to our grateful hearts as the victorious armies of Bull Run and Manassas. It is also a pledge for the future, that as long as time endures Southern women will stand faithful in their devotion to the cause of the South. Therefore, United Daughters of the Confederacy, we may glory in the growth and success of our work.

Our organization is a peculiar one. Born of sorrow and adversity, consecrated to the preservation of memories glorious, but heartbreaking, we seem scarcely a part of the busy present; but by the side of our graves we sit, and, looking far into the future, we see our land redeemed and glorified by the love of her faithful children.

As your President, I have been in constant contact with the noble, great-hearted women who compose the United Daughters of the Confederacy. I have gone into their homes and looked into the earnest work they are doing in their different Chapters. Never have I found any feeling of despondency or fear of failure. In the past year I have visited ten States and have been charmingly entertained by them. I have also been present at three annual Division meetings and have rejoiced at the growth in each Division. I have had many letters of earnest, helpful words; many inquiries regarding the work of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, all of which I have faithfully striven to answer. My books record: Letters written, 1,323; certificates issued, 1,479; new charters received, signed, and returned to the Recording Secretary, 82.

I attended the reunion of the veterans in Louisville, Ky., in May, and my heart thrilled with pride as I heard the old soldiers, in their uniforms of gray, tell of hard-fought battles and deeds of valor, and saw the old flags, tattered and torn, made sacred by the scars and wounds of many a battlefield. All this has been permitted me, as your President, and I thank you for it.

The work of the past year has been of the deepest interest. Your Committee on the Cross of Honor has had a hard year of arduous work. To secure a perfect plan and system to regulate the bestowal of the cross on hundreds of thousands means much work, as only those who have undertaken it can realize. Mrs. Gabbett was made Custodian of the cross, in Richmond. With a brave heart, but delicate health, she has struggled on, trying to respond to all the demands made upon her. But for the aid and assistance of the two splendid women who compose her committee—Mrs. Plane and Miss Rutherford—I am afraid the work would have been too much for her.

The Jefferson Davis Monument Committee has accomplished much faithful work during the past year. Mrs. Norman Randolph, of Richmond, Va., is Chairman of the Central Committee. With an enthusiasm born of love and devotion, she has never failed or faltered in the work she has undertaken. Every appeal that an eloquent tongue or pen can make she has made. Earnest and faithful, believing strongly in the success of her work, she cannot, will not fail. We must remember, however, it is not her work alone. As Southern women and members of the United Daughters of the Confederacy we are, each one of us, responsible for the success of this great work. More than thirty-five years have passed since the war and the South has no national monument to our great chieftain and the cause he represents, no monument to Jefferson Davis and the Southern Confederacy. United Daughters of the Confederacy, arise to the work, and remove this reproach. Whenever the name of Jefferson Davis is heard, it represents the Southern Confederacy. He was our chieftain and our representative, and we point to him with pride and love—a soldier without cruelty, a statesman without reproach, a martyr without complaint. As a soldier and a statesman, he is entitled to our admiration; as the martyr who bore without complaint the degradation of imprisonment and of chains (to the everlasting shame of the nineteenth century and the United States Government! be it said), he claims our grateful love and veneration. This monument must be erected, and as soon as possible. The committee has worked faithfully, but we must help. I am sure you feel, as I do, that we must erect such a monument, that coming generations will regard it with pride and wonder.

The educational part of our work engages our minds and hearts. We must educate our Southern boys and girls as true Southerners should be educated, in the full knowledge of our war and the causes that led to it; they must be taught why their fathers gave up everything, even life itself, and the principles that were involved; they must be taught the history of the war and the history of the great men who made our country the glorious country it was; and this we can only secure by regulating the books that are used in our schools. Never falter in this work; it means everything to us and to our children.

And now I come to the saddest portion of our year. Our hearts are filled with tender sympathy for a dear sister State whose sorrow and overwhelming anguish we can scarcely realize. Texas—our great, big-hearted, generous sister, who has ever been the friend of all in trouble—has been visited by such a calamity as the world has never seen equaled. Thirty-six hours of storm and wind and tidal wave have laid the beautiful city of Galveston in a heap of ruins, and beneath these ruins are entombed ten thousand lives. The whole world stands aghast at such disaster. We mourn with our sisters in this dreadful hour of sorrow and anguish, and assure them of our love and sympathy.

Now, my dear sisters, I will bring my lengthy address to a close, as every moment of time is precious. I thank you for the honor you have conferred upon me, and I pray that success may crown your work, not only for the coming year, but for all time, and that the faithful work of the United Daughters of the Confederacy may promote the good of our entire Southland.

God bless you all.

Mrs. W. W. Read, of New York, First Vice President, who had charge of the work of the Association during the absence of the President, made a report of her work during that time, showing the great interest she had in the success of the Association.

On motion of Mrs. F. H. Elmore, of Montgomery, the thanks of the Convention were unanimously extended to the President and First Vice President for the satisfactory manner in which they had performed their duties.

Mrs. John P. Hickman, the Recording Secretary, then read her report, which was approved, and is as follows:

To the United Daughters of the Confederacy:

In submitting this, my fifth annual report, I do so with some trepidation, as I must necessarily traverse the same ground as set forth in my former reports.

My duties during this year have been more exacting than heretofore, and especially so as during the absence of our President a great many constitutional questions were submitted to me for answer. I have also had propounded innumerable questions in regard to the Crosses of Honor. This was necessarily so, as the Custodian, on account of her health, was forced to be absent, and but few knew her address.

But to the workings of my office. Under our by-laws I am forced to have the Minutes printed and send ten copies to each Chapter. The expressage, when sent C. O. D., has heretofore been 45 cents on each package, as to which amounts a number of our Chapters seriously complained. Appreciating this and to save the Chapters expense, I made an arrangement with the express company whereby they should be sent, marked prepaid, at a cost of 25 cents each. Most of the Chapters have remitted me the 25 cents; however, I am sorry to say that forty-one Chapters have neglected to remit me the amount, but I hope they may yet do so. I would suggest that hereafter each Chapter be required to send to the Secretary 25 cents for the Minutes, and the Secretary could then send the Minutes by mail; moreover, that the Secretary should only send Minutes to the Chapters remitting the amount. The expense of my office has been unusually large this year, as I had to have printed all stationery for the Crosses of Honor, and the postage has been enormous in mailing the certificates for the crosses to the Chapters. I have mailed 12,320 applications for crosses, with instructions from the Custodian, orders, etc. I have received during the year 1,791 letters and have written and mailed 1,261 letters and postal cards. Independent of this, I have mailed to the Chapters 666 notices of the Crosses of Honor; 599 notices in regard to the Minutes; 415 calls for the Convention, with copies of revised Constitution and credential blanks; and 10 orders for pins to 375 Chapters. All letters received and written have been properly entered in my record book, showing from whom received and to whom written, with dates thereof. My correspondence has been exceedingly agreeable, and I have endeavored to answer each letter on the date of its reception. I have also prepared and sent to the Chapters 1,479 certificates of membership. I have issued 82 charters since the Richmond Convention; besides, I have reissued several others, with changes of name, added names, etc. Texas has led in the organization of Chapters this year. I have received during the year for charters and certificates $358, which has been paid your Treasurer, for which I have receipts. The total expense of my office has been $952.17, for all of which vouchers are filed with your Treasurer; but $453 of this was paid for four thousand copies of the Minutes, $141.25 on account of the Crosses of Honor, $37.50 for two thousand certificates of membership, and $17.50 for five hundred copies of the revised Constitution—leaving the actual expense of my office $303.32, but out of which should be taken the large amount of postage required in mailing applications for Crosses of Honor, certificates, and charters. As will be seen from my last report, I was forced to pay on Minutes expressed to several Chapters, and the expense this year on that account will not be much greater than it was last year, when, at the same time, I have saved each Chapter 20 cents.

I must return my sincere thanks to our general officers and to each Chapter for their courteous treatment and pleasant correspondence during the year. There has not been the slightest unpleasantness, and I was compelled only once to disagree with any one.

The Richmond Convention made it the duty of the Treasurer to collect the per capita tax, but as that had been the duty of the Recording Secretary since the organization of our Association, a number of the Chapters sent their tax to me, which necessitated my sending it to the Treasurer or returning it to the Chapters, with a letter of explanation.

Hoping that my long report has not taxed your patience, although necessarily blunt and uninteresting, I submit it with a heart full of love for our sacred cause and every member of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

MRS. JOHN P. HICKMAN.

Recording Secretary.

Miss Mary F. Meares, the Corresponding Secretary, then submitted her report, which was adopted, and is as follows:

Madam President, and Daughters of the Confederacy:

There are happy moments that come to us all sometimes, and this is one of mine. It is indeed a happiness to be in Montgomery, the first capital of the Confederacy, rich in historic memories dear to us all; to know so many of her women, famed for their beauty and grace; to meet so many of the friends made at similar gatherings, and to have the opportunity of making new ones; to once more be honored in standing before this noble body to make an annual report as your Corresponding Secretary.

During the past year I wrote 183 letters and 23 postal cards. This increase in correspondence is greatly due to the tremendous amount of work necessarily following the task we have assumed of erecting a monument to Jefferson Davis. In this connection, I have sent 975 circulars.

Our Association, with its nearly twenty thousand members, is attracting attention outside this fair Southland of ours. With such a flourishing Chapter in New York, two Chapters in Pennsylvania, one in Indiana, three in California, four in Indian Territory, and one in Oklahoma Territory, the magazines and newspapers are beginning to feel that some notice must be taken of our Association. I have received letters from several of the leading magazines and papers, asking for information about our organization. As I stand here at the close of this nineteenth century and see how, in six short years, this organization has grown from a little, weak body of scarcely more than two hundred members, scattered in three or four States, to an immense society of nearly twenty thousand members, spread throughout these United States, I feel that if we grow in the new century, just dawning before us, as we have done in the old century, we will be like the seed promised to Abraham—without number. We have fought a good fight, but the battle is not yet won; we have run a good race, but the goal is not yet reached; so let us keep on working and growing until we can make the world acknowledge that the cause for which we struggled was just and right.

In conclusion, let me thank you for the honor you have bestowed on me in twice electing me an officer of this grand and glorious body of women. Believing in the rotation of office and feeling that I have served my turn, and that some one else should have the honor, I lay down my work as an officer only to take it up with renewed zeal in the cause as a private in the ranks.

I ask your indulgence for any mistakes made, and to feel that they were from the head, and not from the heart; and now, for myself, I want to thank you personally.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY F. MEARES,
Corresponding Secretary.

Mrs. J. Jefferson Thomas, the Treasurer, made her report, which showed that the balance on hand this year is not as large as last year, owing to the increased expense of carrying on the Association, the balance on hand last year being $1,332.69, while the balance at present amounts to only $934.48. Her entire report follows:

MRS. J. JEFFERSON THOMAS TREASURER, IN ACCOUNT WITH UNITED DAUGHTERS OF THE CONFEDERACY.

November 8, 1899. Balance in bank.....$1,332 69

MRS. J. JEFFERSON THOMAS,
Treasurer.

Mrs. S. T. McCullough, of Virginia, desired to know, before the Treasurer's report was considered, whether or not the $500 subscribed to the Davis Monument Fund, which had been appropriated at the Richmond Convention, had been paid. It was reported that it had not been paid; and, on referring to the Minutes of that Convention, it was ordered that the amount was to be held subject to call.

Mrs. John Hayes, of Kentucky, moved that the Treasurer be instructed to pay the $500 to Mrs. McCullough; and, on being seconded by Mrs. J. D. Beale, of Alabama, the motion was adopted.

The Division reports were next submitted.

ALABAMA.

Mrs. John A. Kirkpatrick, President of the Alabama Division, submitted its report:

I have the honor to present to you the report from Alabama, and I bring it with loyal greetings from every Chapter within our borders, and the sincere wish that the Convention may prove a pleasure to our guests and redound to the glory of the work.

The Alabama Division was formed in April, 1897, in Montgomery, with seven Chapters, and a membership of about three hundred Daughters. It now numbers twenty-six Chapters, with a membership of nearly eleven hundred women, seven Chapters having fallen into line since the Richmond Convention.

The accepted work of the Division is the care of needy Confederate veterans, the preservation of the Jeff. Davis House (or first White House of the Confederacy), and the building of monuments to the Alabama dead on the four battlefields now converted into national parks. Our Chapters are loyal, diligent, and enthusiastic, and gratifying progress has been accomplished by them along these lines.

The first two years of our existence as a Division we labored faithfully to establish a home for the needy veterans; but when enough money was in hand to rent a small cottage and begin in a humble way, we yielded to the earnest solicitations of prominent veterans and abandoned the idea, deciding to help the old soldiers at their own homes. This is done systematically and as generously as our means will allow. Each Chapter pledges itself to contribute to the general fund, which is in the hands of the State Treasurer and by her disbursed. Every Chapter has the privilege of sending in the name of any needy veteran that they may wish, the applicant having first been passed upon by the camp nearest to him.

Last year we raised $250 for monuments on the battlefields, and from pledges already made we have every reason to believe we will be equally successful this year; moreover, we have decided to appeal to our State government for aid in this noble cause.

During the present session of the Legislature a committee, appointed by the Division, will petition the members to make General Lee's birthday a legal holiday. In addition to our other work, the Division has, through its Chapters, raised $238 during the past twelve months for the Jefferson Davis Monument Fund.

In some parts of our State the Chapters engage in the memorial work of caring for the soldiers' graves, but this is not the case with the Montgomery Chapters. Here the Daughters of the Confederacy may be said to be the children of the Memorial Association, one of the oldest and best-known orders in the South, which has kept up its organization since 1866 and still labors faithfully. The two associations work harmoniously, many women being members of both.

We feel that your presence among us will be an inspiration and a blessing, and will stimulate us to increased interest and enthusiasm in the work of the order.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. JOHN A. KIRKPATRICK,
President Alabama State Division, U. D. C.

ARKANSAS.

Mrs. J. M. Keller, President of the Arkansas Division, submitted its report:

REPORT OF ARKANSAS DIVISION FOR 1899-1900.

Mrs. President, and United Daughters of the Confederacy, in Convention Assembled:

I esteem it a great privilege to present to you a report from the Arkansas Division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy for the past year.

We have at present twenty Chapters, all (with the exception of two) in fine working order. The cause of the unfavorable condition of the two exceptions is the removal of residence of zealous members, and the consequent discouragement of those remaining.

At our annual Convention, October 10-13, thirteen Chapters were represented by delegates and proxies, all reporting a flourishing condition and hearty interest in their work.

The transference of members from one Chapter to another, either in the same Division or some other Division, is worthy of your attention.

Another subject which has perplexed us is the desire of persons who have come into the families of Confederates, through marriage, to affiliate with us in our work. What shall we do with them? Would it be well, for the sake of peace in the family, to give them "associate" membership?

We have now a membership of 825—a small number compared to those who should take up the work, and do not; yet we are gradually growing, and hope another year will find our number greatly increased.

Gen. Robert E. Lee's birthday has been adopted universally in our Division for celebration, and a day is set apart in May for the decoration of Confederate graves, which is observed sacredly.

Little Rock Memorial Chapter has a standing committee to attend the funerals of those who die at the Old Soldiers' Home and place wreaths and flowers on their graves. We also minister to the comfort of the living inmates of the home, and send them books and magazines. Sometimes a musical entertainment is given in their chapel, and they are always remembered at Thanksgiving and Christmastide.

Several of our larger Chapters have erected monuments in their own cemeteries, and now all are concentrating their efforts, with the aid of the Confederate veterans, to erect a suitable monument to all Arkansas Confederate dead at the State Capitol. We have on hand $5,000 for that purpose. We have never asked assistance outside of our own State. When we have completed our own monument, we will again be ready and willing to lend a helping hand to others, as we did in the years gone by.

The Proceedings of our annual Convention are in press now, and we intend sending a copy to the President of every Division, and would be glad to receive in return copies of their Minutes, to help us in our work for the good cause which unites us as a sisterhood. We do not want any one to think the Arkansas Division is behind in anything belonging to the "Lost Cause."

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGINE WOODRUFF,
Recording Secretary Arkansas Division, U. D. C.

Approved:

MRS. J. M. KELLER, President Arkansas Division.

Madam President, and United Daughters of the Confederacy:

I bring cordial greetings from the Arkansas State Division, and am glad to report that the number of Chapters is gradually increasing. We have now twenty Chapters organized and in affiliation with our State Division, and others in process of organization, and we hope in another year to have organized and at work one Chapter in every county where there are to be found enough women eligible to become members.

You will bear in mind that ours is a State of long distances and bad roads, which go far to make it difficult for women to meet in convention; but no matter what the obstacles are, we will try to overcome them. We keep sacredly General Lee's birthday and strew flowers over our dead.

The Daughters, with the aid of the veterans, are engaged in raising money to erect a monument to the Confederate dead of the State at Little Rock, which they hope to have completed before another year passes. We have $5,000.

I assure you that the women of my State will not for one moment relax their efforts to care for our dead, or record a true history of the South for those who come after us.

Rise, for the day is passing,
And you lie dreaming on;
The others have buckled their armor on,
And forth to fight are gone.
A place in the ranks awaits you,
Each woman has some part to play;
The past and future are nothing
In the face of the stern to-day.

Rise from the dreams of the future,
Of gaining some hard-fought field,
Of storming some airy fortress,
Of bidding some giant yield.

Your future has deeds of glory,
Of honor. God grant it may!
Your arm will never be stronger,
Or the need so great as to-day.

Sincerely yours,
Hot Springs, Ark.

MRS. JAMES M. KELLER,
President Arkansas Division.

CALIFORNIA.

California having no Division, Mrs. John P. Hickman, as proxy, read the report of the Robert E. Lee Chapter, of Los Angeles:

Robert E. Lee Chapter, No. 278, United Daughters of the Confederacy, has seventy-one members. During the past year we have taken in four new members. On General Lee's birthday we had a fine celebration and had an elaborate banner given to our Chapter, and the Chapter is also the proud possessor of a beautiful Confederate flag, which we love to display on all fitting occasions.

Our Chapter is the first in California to bestow Crosses of Honor, of which we have conferred fifty-seven, and hope to confer many more, seeing how highly appreciated and sought for they are by the veterans.

We hope, by the next annual meeting, to have a State Division, as there are now six Chapters in California. Our meetings are always well attended, and we meet at different houses each time, and have a short programme and light refreshments. We responded to the call of charity for the Galveston sufferers.

Los Angeles, Cal.

EXA KERNS,
Secretary.

Albert Sidney Johnston Chapter, of San Francisco, and the Los Angeles Chapter had no reports; but Mrs. Hickman read a telegram from the Los Angeles Chapter, as follows:

Los Angeles, Cal., November 14, 1900.—United Daughters of the Confederacy, Montgomery, Ala.: Greetings from Los Angeles Chapter, No. 277, sent through

MRS. J. M. ELLIOTT.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

Mrs. N. V. Randolph, as proxy, presented the report of Stonewall Jackson Chapter, of Washington City:

The officers of Stonewall Jackson Chapter, No. 20, of Washington, are: President, Mrs. Edward W. Ayres; Vice President, Mrs. Albert Akers; Secretary, Mrs. William Page Couper; Treasurer, Mrs. Magnus

S. Thompson; Historian, Mrs. C. Greenwood Stanley. We have 22 members.

It is with deep regret that Stonewall Jackson Chapter is again compelled to appear with its usual annual statement of no history made during the past year, no definite work carried out or even planned. It continues limited in numbers and in resource, and with but small hope of improvement in either direction. The political and cosmopolitan atmosphere of the national capital, with its perpetual and inevitable changes, can never be conducive to the prosperity of a strictly sectional organization. The women of Washington enjoy the unique privilege of never growing old, and, naturally, the young can have no past; their life and its pleasures must be in the present and future. That, of course, applies chiefly to the woman with social aspirations or an assured social position. Many of the Southern women here—especially those who went through the long struggle, participating in its romances and tragedies, its brief gayeties followed by countless hours of agonizing suspense during the dreadful days of some hopeless battle—are having such an unequal fight with fate in their efforts as family “potboilers” that any moments of relaxation are given to rest and recreation. Their present burdens are too heavy to increase them with the unavailing sorrows of memory; and so, from these causes, it seems that the patriotic and laudable enterprises of the Daughters of the Confederacy evoke no echo in their hearts and no responsive aid.

The writer can only deplore her inability to ever find material for compiling a report, and as the future holds out no hope that the prevailing conditions will cease to exist, she suggests that the District of Columbia be excused from any further reports.

Continued ill health during the past year has prevented her making personal effort to help in raising funds for the Davis Monument or in rendering substantial assistance to the many worthy works in which the various State Divisions are engaged. It is with the deepest regret that she is compelled to forego the cherished anticipation of being present at the Montgomery Convention, except in spirit. She hopes to be more fortunate another year, and sends cordial greetings and wishes for the harmonious accomplishment of all work mapped out.

SALLIE SAWYER AYRES,

President Stonewall Jackson Chapter, U. D. C.

Washington, D. C.

FLORIDA.

Mrs. J. W. Tench, President of the Florida Division, presented the report of her Division:

Ladies of Alabama:

It is with mingled emotions of pride and pleasure that I appear before you—pride in that it is my good fortune to be a member of such an association of intelligent, representative women; and pleasure in the fact that I stand in the natal city of the Southern Confederacy. It was on this historic spot that the glove of defiance was thrown down to an arrogant and aggressive foe, and as long as the struggle lasted, neither your beautiful city nor magnificent State forgot its allegiance first sworn on yonder hill to the cause of constitutional government and the rights of the citizen. And I call upon you who come from the shores of the bay of the moving waters, from the mouth of the Cahawba (on the banks of which once stood your capital), from the Coosa and the Tallapoosa, from the Warrior and the Perdido, from the Conecuh and the Tennessee, from the Tombigbee and the Alabama, from the iron mines and the coal fields, from the rice lands and the canebrake country, from the mountain to the seashore, from the Mississippi border to where the Chattahoochee rolls musically along to the sea, to forget not the necessities of the decrepit living or the graves of the glorious dead who defended you.

Speak but the word, "Alabama," and the ragged, grimy ghosts of the glorious Fourth Regiment glide with noiseless tread from the battle smoke of Manassas; speak it again, and the white wings of the sauciest ship that ever broke the foam on the crest of a wave are outlined in the harbor of Cherbourg; again, and the boyish form of Pelham, the past grand master of the world's artillerists, and that of Semmes, the battle-crowned sea king, are before us. You have been left a grand, a glorious heritage. Preserve it.

When the Indians, migrating from the East, came upon the banks of this beautiful river of yours, they exclaimed, "Alabama!"—here we rest. Your welcome is an earnest that we, too, for a while, shall rest in the hearts and homes of our sisters and our friends, and for our welcome here I thank you.

It now becomes my duty, as President of the Florida Division, United Daughters of the Confederacy, to make to the National Division my annual report.

To Mrs. Edwin Gardner Weed, President of the National Division, and Daughters of the Confederacy in National Organization Assembled:

We have a prosperous year's work to report. While only two Chapters have been added to our list, two more have applied for charters, and there has been a steady increase in the membership of almost all the old Chapters. We recognize the building of the Davis Monument as the work of the year, and nearly all the Chapters have contributed liberally to this fund, and those not making money contributions worked in the State Fair, and as a large contribution has been given from the fair fund, we feel that Florida has done her share toward this work, having given during the past year $695.85. June 3 was celebrated all over the State, and the money raised will go to the Davis Monument Fund.

The Stonewall Chapter, of Lake City, with a membership of ten, has raised this year $200 to erect a shaft over the dead buried in their cemetery; the Dickison Chapter, of Ocala, and the Annie Coleman Chapter, of Orlando, have also raised creditable sums to place headstones at the graves of their dead; the Martha Reid Chapter, the parent Chapter of the State, has contributed liberally to all the different causes for which we have worked this year. The Historical Committee of that Chapter I wish especially to mention—a committee that meets weekly and reads and compares the histories now used in our schools with others as published; this is one of the practical ways of forwarding the work of the organization.

As to the historical work that the President of the Division requested the Chapters to take up for the summer, almost all the Chapters have reported something accomplished. I am glad to be able to report that the Kirby-Smith Chapter, of Gainesville (my home Chapter), is the banner Chapter of the State, their committee reporting ten papers contributed by members of the Chapter and veterans, and in addition to this, fifteen others prepared and read before the Chapter, before this committee was appointed. When you consider that all this has been accomplished in less than three years, you will agree with me that the record is a good one.

Conferring Crosses of Honor upon veterans has been done by some of the Chapters, especially Pensacola and Ocala.

I think that all the Chapters have met their obligations to the Florida Room in the Museum at Richmond. The Chapters have met their obligations, too, toward the Soldiers' Home, in Jacksonville.

I wish to mention the Confederate Fair, which we held in Jacksonville last January. This fair was inaugurated and consummated during Mrs. Weed's administration, and was a grand success—financial, social, and educational. The Chapters taking part worked with but one object in view, and gloriously did they succeed. We intended it to be, as far as we could make it, a reproduction of what we imagined it would have been in the early sixties. We had the old loom in full blast, carding, spinning, and quilting; then we had coffees, teas, potato pone of the old time for sale. All this, with the modern features, made it unique and very attractive. We also had a Loan Relic Department, and for the small sum of 10 cents admittance we made over $100, which we considered a wonderful success from a financial and educational standpoint; for remember that Jacksonville is a cosmopolitan city. In connection with the fair, I wish to thank Martha Reid Chapter for their good work and their generous hospitality to the visiting Daughters. And let me further say, if you want to meet in a city where the doors are open, hearts are open, and hands are open, go to Jacksonville. For genuine hospitality, Jacksonville is only equaled by the broad sweep of the majestic river which holds her in its loving embrace.

The net proceeds of the fair were $677, of which $400 was given to the Jefferson Davis Monument Fund; $177, to the Winchester shaft: $50, to the shaft at Lake City; and $50, to the Soldiers' Home. in Jacksonville, this home being supported by the State of Florida.

The State of Florida indeed feels honored in the selection of one of her daughters as President of the National Division of our order, but at the same time feels that in intelligent Christian womanhood, executive ability, devotion to the cause, and dignity of character, the honor has been returned in the elevation of Mrs. Weed to the presidency of the National Division.

Now, my sisters, to each and all of you—you who hail from the States of the palmetto and the pine, of the cotton and the cane, of the blue grass and the grain; of the tar, the turpentine, and the tobacco; of the herds and the flocks, of the iron and the coal, of the spindles and the looms; and of my own fair land, where the mango apples grow, and the sun tints the cheek with health and fills the orange with sweetness—you have a work to do, and it must be done now.

Only thirty-five years have passed since the close of the war between the States. This is but a small stretch of time in the history of a nation, yet during these few years many things have been forgotten, and death has sealed, and is daily sealing forever, lips which could tell of the things which we would like to remember. I, therefore, lovingly beseech you to work while it is yet day; for the night cometh, when no one can work. A century and a quarter has elapsed since the beginning of the American Revolution, and on the branches of many an otherwise good family tree still hangs the rotten limb of Toryism. The years are fading fast, and soon the time-yellowed and moth-eaten proofs of the heroism of your ancestors will be mere indecipherable evidences of something you would have preserved, but lost to you a few years hence forever. The time will come when your grandson will ask you: "Grandma, was grandpa with the glorious Pickett on the flame-lit, thunder-riven crest of Cemetery Ridge, or Stonewall, the magnificent, at Chancellorsville and the Wilderness? Did he charge with the fiery Forrest, the impetuous and romantic Wheeler? Did he ride with the rapid raiders, Morgan and Stuart (the black-plumed knight, the greatest of the chevaliers since Bayard died)? Did he march through blazing blasts with Bragg, or did he camp with Lee, the military ne plus ultra of all the earth?" And what will be your answer to the eager, expectant child? Will you be able to say, "Yes, my boy; and here are the proofs?" or will you have to hang your head, as you regretfully answer: "I do not know?" Even now a veteran who is not accredited as a member of a camp cannot participate in a reunion. Why? Simply because he has failed to furnish proof that he is an honorably discharged or paroled Confederate soldier. Many women now have much trouble in making proof that they are entitled to join the Daughters; in twenty years, many cannot, for want of evidence. The time is close at hand when it will be a very great honor to be a member of this, now, the largest woman's organization in the world. Then I beseech you to act; go to work and form a Chapter at once in every city, town, village, and hamlet in the South. It matters not if your Chapter has but a dozen, even half dozen, members; it will accomplish something, swell our numbers, and educate the rising generation. The monthly or bi-monthly social intercourse will improve your minds, sweeten your tempers, and lengthen your days, thus enabling you longer to contend with the detractors of our people. MRS. JOHN W. TENCH, President Florida Division, U. D. C.

GEORGIA.

Mrs. James A. Rounsaville presented the report of the Georgia Division, of which she is President:

Madam President, and Daughters of the Confederacy:

Well has it been said, "Happy are they who have for the sublime and permanent basis of their glory the love of country, demonstrated by deeds;" and, therefore, happy indeed should you count yourselves, who justly claim this priceless heritage; having for your ideal, that of duty to country and to conscience; for your inspiration, the principles for which your fathers fought—divine principles, born in loyal hearts and destined never to die. United with you in the proud possession of such love, such ideals, and such inspiration, thrice happy are the Daughters of Georgia who greet you to-day in this sister State—once a part of our own great Commonwealth, and yet bound to us by ties of love and kinship—in this historic city, dear to every Confederate heart, where noble impulse and patriotic action are stimulated by environment, and "the very air we breathe is fragrant with the increase of offerings here laid upon the altar of liberty and constitutional government."

Peculiarly sacred are the scenes and associations of this city to the Georgia delegation, here convened, since it is largely composed of direct representatives of those illustrious Georgians whose priceless services for the Confederacy were inaugurated in this, its early capital. That these Daughters of Georgia are true to the traditions of their lineage, and inspired to noble thoughts and nobler deeds by the record of their sires, is evidenced not only in their presence here to-day, but by their achievements in the past, which, briefly recounted, will give some idea of the great work now in progress throughout our Division. One modest, sweet-faced member of our delegation was presented to you yesterday in the halls of the Confederate Capitol as the daughter of Gen. Howard Cobb, who there presided over the first Confederate Congress. How worthily his daughter represents him and also his brilliant brother, Gen. Thomas R. R. Cobb, framer of the Constitution of the Confederate States, is proven not only by faithful service in her local Chapter, but by the fact that she it was who first conceived and voiced the idea that we, the daughters of a sacred cause, should testify our love and reverence and eternal loyalty to the principles of that cause and the brave men who faithfully defended it unto the end, by presenting to each the Southern Cross of Honor—an insignia which, with our monuments, shall remain “the testimony of the present to the future, that these were they who kept the faith as it was given them by the fathers.” Again are the brave and gallant Cobbs represented in the Georgia delegation by our beloved State Historian—their niece—whose valuable and systematic plan of work, prosecuted through the able Historians of the various Chapters, promises at an early date to secure in our Division archives the most complete record yet made of Georgia’s Confederate history; and here, also, is the representative of that Chapter formed in the home of the silver-tongued Robert Toombs, who in this city served the Confederacy as its first Secretary of State; this same Chapter (of Washington, Ga.) it is that convenes each month in the building in which President Davis held his last Cabinet meeting and sadly bade farewell to hope for the great cause cradled here.

I also bring you greetings from the Chapter which holds in possession Liberty Hall, the home of Alexander Stephens, here elected Vice President of the Confederacy, and, like his illustrious chief, sharing the title with no successor. Other Daughters of Georgia are present, representing many of the bravest and best of the South’s matchless soldiery, many of the strongest, most active Chapters of our State; but the associations of this city have prompted especial reference to these few, and remind us, also, that Georgia owes to Alabama a debt that cannot be discharged, since some possessions have not their equivalent in value, and one of these was the gracious gift of Alabama to her mother State—for she who was our first Division President is now, for life, our honorary President, and so long served this united body of women in the vice presidential office, was the daughter of Alabama’s own loved Jemison, and by that tie binds closer still our hearts to Alabama.

From the individual and Chapter work cited above, you have learned that two buildings of historic interest to the entire South are cared for by the Daughters of Georgia. Other landmarks there are in large numbers which we seek to preserve and perpetuate. Within the year we also hope to establish a State repository for relics and records, that our veterans may have opportunity to view these mementoes of a loved past and the prospective writer or student secure data for that true history, yet to be compiled, for which it is our sacred duty now to gather up material. Through the combined efforts of our organization and the Sons of Veterans the Georgia Legislature will probably appropriate, during the present session, the amount necessary to employ a competent historian, whose duty it will be to collect, arrange, and preserve the records of our State, making them available for reference at any time. This measure—recommended by our Governor and sure of his approval—when passed looks toward the preparation and early introduction of truthful histories in every school of our State, and therefore seems of special moment; for though our Division is engaged in the prosecution of many other plans, and within the year has accomplished a wonderful amount of work—benevolent and memorial, as well as educational and historical—yet we realize the latter to be of supreme importance, and would engrave on the hearts and minds of the children of the South the truths that their fathers were patriots and honorable men—defenders of constitutional liberty and of a cause that was just and righteous, and of “principles which will eventually light the world to freedom and to peace.” It is to this end that we labor for the building of an annex to our State Normal School, which will be not alone a memorial to Winnie Davis, the Daughter of the Confederacy, but a benefit to Confederate girls—sending them forth educated and equipped for teaching and capable of rescuing the truth from the tangled meshes of falsehood and error, and presenting it to the children of the South as it should be.

Here let me pause to urge you, Daughters of the Confederacy from every State, to exercise care as well in the selection of teachers as of histories, and to see that the pages of no readers, elocution books, or works of fiction teach to your children by insidious suggestion lessons derogatory to the South's brave defenders and contrary to your teachings at home. Apropos to your efforts in behalf of the children, I would tell you of the beautiful work accomplished by the children themselves in Georgia, where are organized Chapters of children of the Confederacy, auxiliary to our own. Since the formation of the charter Chapter of children, in Atlanta, our capital city, several have been organized throughout the State and have proven not only valuable for the patriotic interest aroused in the younger generation, but as aids to the Daughters in their work. We feel that you will hear with pleasure and sympathetic interest of the success which has crowned the efforts of one young band—organized less than a year since in Savannah, Ga., and now claiming more than two hundred members—who have by their efforts already raised and paid into the Winnie Davis Memorial Fund the sum of $113, desiring through this educational memorial to benefit other children not so fortunately circumstanced as themselves; and so the work and influence of these little ones shall spread in everwidening circles. Has their record been excelled elsewhere this year? Or do they bear the banner not alone for Georgia, but for the South?

From the examples given you may gain some idea of the work progressing toward completion in the Empire State. It would be a pleasure to relate in detail the achievements of each of Georgia's forty-one Chapters during the past year, but I am admonished that time is limited, and, ere closing this report, will only give expression to the hope that not alone the Daughters of Georgia, but of all this united body of women—animated by lofty purposes, striving for noble and exalted ends—may by their future efforts rival those of the past, and so testify their unswerving fidelity to a faith in the defense of which their fathers periled all save honor.

HALLIE ALEXANDER ROUNSAVILLE,
President Georgia Division, U. D. C.

INDIANA.

Mrs. Fannie Keen Roach presented the report of the Fitzhugh Lee Chapter, of Evansville, Ind.:

Madam President, and Daughters of the Confederacy:

The Fitzhugh Lee Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, of Evansville, send love and greetings to the National Convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, meeting in the city of Montgomery, Ala.

On March 28, 1900, in the city of Evansville, Vanderburgh County, Ind., a few loyal women, whose hearts were still aflame with love for home and native land, organized the Fitzhugh Lee Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, with seven members; since then our membership has reached thirty, with prospect of large increase in the near future. This Chapter was represented at the Confederate reunion at Louisville, Ky., by three delegates—Mrs. Fannie K. Roach, Mrs. J. Y. Cabaniss, and Mrs. William Field. Through them we pledged $100 to the Jefferson Davis Monument Fund, which amount we are happy to say has been raised, chiefly through the personal efforts of our worthy First Vice President, Mrs. Fannie K. Roach, an untiring worker for the cause. She goes as our delegate to Montgomery, and will tender the offering, with our hearts' best love. We also sent $31.25 to the Galveston sufferers, and so we stand, heart to heart, ready to do those things which our hands find to do in the interest of the work in the Sunny South, which to us, in far-off Indiana, is still the fairest spot in all the earth.

Evansville, Ind.

MRS. J. R. FERGUSON,
President.

INDIAN TERRITORY.

No reports were presented from the four Chapters in the Indian Territory.

KENTUCKY.

Mrs. R. H. Thompson submitted the report of the Kentucky Division, which was rather meager on account of the absence of Mrs. Duke, the President:

Madam President, and Daughters of the Confederacy:

Offering you cordial and sincerest greetings, and regretting my inability to attend the seventh annual Convention of our united order, I beg to assure you of my ardent interest and sympathy in all that you will do, a sentiment which absence and distance only intensify. It gratifies me to be able to report that the work in Kentucky has not been in any degree relaxed during the past year, but has been prosecuted with the same zeal and efficiency which characterized its inauguration. Seven additional Chapters have been organized within the twelve months just elapsed, so that Kentucky now has a total number of twenty-nine, with an aggregate membership of 1,365. Other Chapters are forming, and in my absence have not applied for their charters.

While punctually discharging all the more serious duties devolving on them, the Daughters of the Confederacy in Kentucky have not failed in recognition of all social obligations incumbent on the members of our association, and have reverently observed those events which recall the glorious and heroic memories we cherish. The birthday of Gen. Robert E. Lee was celebrated in a manner befitting an occasion which appeals so strongly to our pride and affection, and which testified to the veneration in which his name is held by the Southern women of Kentucky. Our Chapters all evinced the heartiest interest in the reunion of the Confederate Veterans held in Louisville, and in every way contributed to the entertainment and comfort of our brave and honored guests. Decoration Day, that solemn anniversary on which we mourn our Confederate dead and strew their graves with flowers in testimony of how fresh and green in our hearts we keep their memories, was observed by all of our members with tender and affectionate care.

The following Chapters have subscribed to the Jefferson Davis Monument: The Albert Sidney Johnston Chapter, Louisville, $100; Basil W. Duke Chapter, Henderson, $75; Richard Hawes Chapter, Paris, $35; Kentucky Division, $25; Joseph H. Lewis Chapter, Frankfort, $15; Lexington Chapter, Lexington, $10; Ben. Hardin Helm Chapter, Elizabethtown, $5. Total, $265.

In submitting this, my final report, I may be permitted to acknowledge the generous and efficient assistance I have received from those who have been associated with me in my official work, and which shall always be gratefully remembered, and to express the profound and affectionate regard I feel for you, my sisters. I shall hold myself at all times ready to render such aid as I can to aught that you may seek to do, and shall never forget the sacred obligation which rests upon us all.

Paris, France.

HENRIETTA MORGAN DUKE,
President Kentucky State Division.

It was also reported that Kentucky had made the first subscription and sent the first telegram of sympathy to the Veuve Jefferson Davis Chapter, at Galveston, Texas, after its terrible disaster. On motion of Mrs. R. C. Corley, of Florida, the Secretary was ordered to insert in the Minutes the report of the Albert Sidney Johnston Chapter, of Louisville, and also the report made by Mrs. C. B. Stone, of Texas, in regard to the money sent to the stricken Chapter.

REPORT OF THE ALBERT SIDNEY JOHNSTON CHAPTER, UNITED DAUGHTERS OF THE CONFEDERACY, LOUISVILLE, KY.,
AT THE FOURTH ANNUAL CONVENTION OF KEN-TUCKY DIVISION, WINCHESTER, KY.

With the Albert Sidney Johnston Chapter this has been a year full of events, full of successes, responsibilities, work, and pleasure; it has largely increased in numbers, growing in one year from 220 to 375 members; it has discharged all of its financial and social duties—observed Memorial Day in most impressive and beautiful services, paid tribute to the memory of the dead, administered to the sick and needy, provided a shelter for the homeless, and no appeal for help has been turned from its doors. The sum of $100 has been sent to the Davis Monument Fund; $10 per month is regularly subscribed to the charity fund, though it sometimes goes over that; $10 per month is contributed toward the rent of a residence, where indigent Confederates and families may live at a nominal cost. A young girl, daughter of a Confederate, is now being educated in a business course by the Chapter to fit her for future usefulness. The Chapter has been successful in its financial achievements and generous in its expenditures.

The first social event was a brilliant reception given at the Louisville Hotel on the birthday of Gen. Robert E. Lee, January 19, to which the Veterans and Sons were invited. Although the rain poured, over four hundred did honor to the occasion. Addresses were delivered by Judge Richards and Colonel Young. Delightful refreshments were served, and the evening was a most enjoyable one. Very many expressions came from the Veterans of their high appreciation of this bountiful hospitality from the Daughters. From that time on all energy and thought were bent to the Reunion of Confederate Veterans, to begin on May 30 and close on June 3. How well they achieved success was evidenced by the brilliant and unstinted hospitality dispensed during the reunion.

The magnificent reception in the spacious parlors and halls of the Galt House, given in honor of Mrs. Hayes, the daughter of Kentucky's most distinguished citizen and only President of the Confederacy, and to Mrs. Weed, the distinguished President of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, was a function that made a lasting impression on the five thousand Southern women who graced the occasion and more than sustained Kentucky's reputation for hospitality. Refreshments were served and everything done to contribute to the comfort and pleasure of the guests.

The Chapter also kept open house in the handsomest headquarters ever provided in any State. Hundreds of veterans and visiting ladies called every day, were refreshed, and entertained. No words of praise can be too loud for this most charming feature of the reunion.

After the whirl of the reunion was over a beautiful breakfast was given at the Galt House to the most distinguished of all the Daughters, our honorary President for life and organizer of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, Mrs. M. C. Goodlett, a Kentuckian by birth.

Decoration Day was observed on June 3, Sunday afternoon, when over a thousand gathered at the graves of our beloved Confederate dead, with garlands and baskets of flowers to cover them over. Appropriate exercises of music and short addresses added to the interest of the occasion.

The Chapter gave a successful Dixie Jubilee entertainment at Library Hall. We have lost several members in the past year by death and one by transfer.

The Lost Cause, which is edited under the auspices of this Chapter, has in the past year done a good work. It has distributed nearly 90,000 copies all over the United States, and the many testimonials received at its office are evidence of its having been an inspiration to many discouraged Chapters and helpful in other ways.

With the sincere wishes and an ardent desire at all times to work in harmony with others for the accomplishment of the best welfare of our Chapters, and with a cordial greeting and hearty good wishes for the welfare, prosperity, and happiness of all Chapters, our report is most respectfully submitted.

FLORENCE BARLOW,
Recording Secretary.

LOUISIANA.

Mrs. J. Pinckney Smith, President of the Louisiana Division, next submitted the report of her State Division:

Officers and Members, United Daughters of the Confederacy:

It is with profound pleasure I again meet you, my sister coworkers, in convention assembled. The Daughters of the Pelican State have the third time delegated to me the honor and privilege of representing them in the National Convention. I beg you will accept their messages of love and heartfelt greetings, and hope you will extend your warm approval and sincere encouragement to me in my efforts to build up our organization, while I tell you something of the good work that is now spreading all over our beloved State.

The work goes bravely on. I find it a most difficult task to do anything like justice to the noble efforts of each Chapter, or to put this report in anything like a condensed shape—or, in newspaper parlance, “boil it down”—so as not to trespass on your time and patience, and yet do even scant justice to my Daughters. We now number fourteen active Chapters. Our first State Convention, held in New Orleans on March 12, in Memorial Hall, was in every way a success. Representatives from eleven Chapters, with only two proxies, were present. The exercises were of deep interest.

In accordance with the resolutions passed in the last National Convention, the Division sent circular letters to each Chapter, asking their combined efforts to have June 3, Jefferson Davis' birthday, made a legal holiday in our State. The first to act and send petition to the Legislature was the Kate Cabell Currie Chapter. The resolution was lost by one vote. There has been no lack of effort to arouse interest in the completion of the Jefferson Davis monument in Richmond, Va. The difficulty that confronted our efforts was that ever-repeated statement: “Louisiana has already contributed one-third of the amount now deposited in the bank in Richmond, Va., to the credit of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.” The monument soon to be erected in New Orleans has also claimed its full share of attention, and we will never relax our efforts until a noble shaft shall have marked the spot where sleeps the gallant and brilliant hero of Louisiana, General Beauregard.

Much of our best work stands approved in the ready hands and willing hearts extended at the first call for help from the Ich Dien Circle, King's Daughters. This Circle inaugurated the work of building and maintaining the infirmary of the Soldiers' Home, Camp Nicholls, New Orleans. This work was commenced twelve year ago—several years before the dawn of the glorious advent of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, but it is now receiving monthly contributions from almost every Chapter in the State. The Division had the honor and pleasure of entertaining our National President, Mrs. Edwin Gardner Weed, who was our guest at the State Fair on the occasion of the flower parade. The United Daughters of the Confederacy were most beautifully represented by twenty young ladies, members of the Joanna Waddell Chapter, Baton Rouge. These young Daughters entered the contest with the hope of winning the prize of $400. Had they been accorded their merits, the coffers of the old soldiers' infirmary would have been considerably enriched.

During the enforced absence, on account of ill health, of the State President, the affairs of the Division have been most efficiently managed by Acting President Mrs. T. B. Pugh, ably assisted by the untiring efforts of our ever-faithful and zealous Corresponding Secretary, Miss Cora Richardson. It was in response to their efforts that a donation from several Chapters have been sent to this Convention through the President for the Jefferson Davis Monument in Richmond, Va.—

namely, the Richard J. Hancock Chapter, the Kate Cabell Currie Chapter, and the New Orleans Chapter, $10 each. Attention has been called to the beautiful idea of selecting appropriate mottoes and flowers for each Chapter and Division.

The response for help for the Galveston sufferers was spontaneous and most liberal all over the State. The active work of the hour is the gathering of suitable presents to gladden the hearts at Christmas times of the old soldiers at Camp Nicholls. If the Division or Chapters have ever asked a favor outside of the State, the response does not stand on record.

The report of the New Orleans charter Chapter is a glorious one, but too lengthy to give but a faint idea of the work accomplished. The Chapter is a recognized force in all lines of public and social work in the city, having delegates in all branches of organized woman's work, and responding cheerfully to all demands made upon it from Camp Nicholls; the Houston monument; the Confederate Cemetery in Okolona, Miss; and Camp Chase, O. It also sent floral designs to the Ladies' Memorial Association for Decoration Day; contributed to Memorial Hall, the Shreveport monument, and needy veterans of Petersburg, Va.; furnished both money and clothing in large quantities to Galveston sufferers; and made donations to the Davis and Beauregard monuments, and to the Ladies' Confederate Memorial Association for removal of the dead to Southern cemeteries. This Chapter will give the first crosses of the Legion of Honor received to the inmates in the soldiers' home.

The work of the Kate Cabell Currie Chapter is beyond record here.

The Joanna Waddell Chapter has kept pace with other Chapters, one of the most beautiful and far-reaching features being the circulating library, now open and in full working force in Baton Rouge. The library threw open its doors to the public on May 20, 1899. Up to date over two thousand volumes have been arranged on their shelves in a neat and cozy reading room. The running expenses are kept up by monthly or yearly subscriptions. Each of the members also pays dues of 25 cents a month, which fund is paid to an extra librarian, enabling them to keep the library open on Sundays. The library has no indebtedness. With the members' prompt responses to every demand, their active work so widespread, it would take a more fluent pen than mine to tell in a few words the good work already accomplished in the brief years of the existence of this Chapter.

New Chapters are now being formed at Monroe, Jackson, and Williamsport, and the following new Chapters have been chartered since my last report: Ruston Chapter, Ruston; Kate Beard Chapter, Mansfield; Edward Sparrow Chapter, Lake Providence. The later Chapter, organized by Mrs. Lewis Graham, First Vice President of New Orleans Chapter, was named in honor of Gen. Edward Sparrow—soldier, statesman, and patriot—who was secretary from Louisiana, to the Confederate States Congress and chairman of the Military Committee in the Confederate States Senate. He signed the act of secession of Louisiana from the United States, and at Montgomery, Ala., signed the secession of the Confederate States from the Union.

The following touching little tribute was sent by Miss Mary Decker, the gifted granddaughter of General Sparrow:

LOUISIANA.

(In memory of Gen. Edward Sparrow.)

When the purple, fire-touched dawn clouds
Of our Southern hopes rose bright,
Many soldiers, now in blest shrouds,
Battled bravely for the right;
One whose face we oft remember,
As the twilight shadows fall,
Left his home, in all its splendor—
Longed to hear the cannon ball.

In Montgomery, Alabama,
Where the Congress first was held,
Two men, for Louisiana,
Calmly rang Secession's bell.

One was Semmes, of that fair city
Which still dreams beside the sea;
One was Sparrow, and his mem'ry
To the South should holy be,

For his courage, in that dark hour,
Scorned all danger, all retreat.
Friends, we place this simple wild flower,
As a tribute at his feet.

By magnolias' waxen blooms,
By white jessamines over tombs,
By thy bayous' green-lit gloom,
We love thee, Louisiana!

By thy gray moss vines which blow,
On ribbed cypress trees that grow,
Near the water's sluggish flow,
We love thee, Louisiana!

By his voice, in Senate hall,
Thrilling to the Southland's call,
By the great Confederate fall,
We love thee, Louisiana!

MRS. J. PINCKNEY SMITH,

New Orleans, La.

President Louisiana State Division, U. D. C.

Mrs. C. B. Stone, of Texas, informed the Convention that Louisiana had also contributed liberally to the Galveston sufferers.

MARYLAND.

Mrs. N. V. Randolph, as proxy, then presented the report of the Maryland Division, which is as follows:

The Maryland Division sends greetings to the Convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, now in council.

As neither time nor space permits a detailed account of the work of the Maryland Division, a rapid summary of the general result will best accomplish the desired end.

The Baltimore Chapter, the charter Chapter of the State, having inaugurated the movement for the building of a monument to the heroic men of Maryland who fought on land and sea in the war between the States, has succeeded, with the aid of the other Chapters in the State, in raising the sum of $5,225, which is only a nucleus of the amount to be raised. Several plans are in process of formation for the increase of this fund, and we have hopes in the near future of laying the corner-stone of this memorial of love and veneration. The Baltimore Chapter has contributed $50 to the purchase of the Chapman pictures, and pledges to give $100 to the President Davis Monument Fund. A large number of those having claims upon us as widows and daughters of Confederate soldiers have been relieved by the Charity Committee. The membership of the Chapter steadily increases, and now numbers 730.

The Hartford County Chapter reports its affairs to be "in a most flourishing condition, the members manifesting the greatest interest in everything connected with our order." This Chapter has contributed liberally to the monument fund, has commemorated the birthday of President Davis by a reception to the veterans, and has added to its membership, and generally indicates increased interest and enthusiasm in the cause.

The Fitzhugh Lee Chapter reports a membership of 54 in this the second year of its existence, "that good is being done in an unpretentious way from a slender treasury, and that the cause is as dear to each heart as ever." This Chapter made a generous contribution to the monument fund.

The Franklin Buchanan Chapter, through the resignation of the President, necessitated by enforced absence; the death of the First Vice President; and other changes, has sent no report, but hopes to be in shape for added effort in the new year. This Chapter also gave liberally to the monument fund.

The Frank A. Bond Chapter was formed last April and has already a membership of 32. This Chapter has given $10 to the President Davis Monument Fund, has relieved the needs of Confederate veterans in the vicinity, and is, heart and soul, prepared for any work for the Lost Cause.

In wishing that success may crown the efforts of our great Association, the hope is devoutly expressed that we may never lose sight of this noble organization; that we may never forget that it exists to hold up for the loving reverence of future generations the heroism of the men and women of the South in the war between the States; for the collection of records, that a true history of that great period may be written; for the building of monuments to commemorate the mighty deeds of the giants of those days; and that the children to come after us may be worthy of that great past, let us see to it that the high standards by which they were guided shall be the standards in our lives and homes, and that the same lofty ideals which resulted in the glorious types of womanhood and manhood of those days shall light the way and lead our children to emulation; and that the new South, in the sanctity of her homes, in the modest and gentle charm of her women, in the stainless integrity and heroism of her men, may equal, though she may never hope to excel, the old South of our love.

LOUISE WIGFALL WRIGHT,
President Maryland Division, U. D. C.

MISSISSIPPI.

Mrs. P. M. Moody, President of the Mississippi Division, read the report from the State Division, which follows:

To the United Daughters of the Confederacy:

As the Mohammedans of old, in the splendid times of the Caliphs, turned their eyes toward Mecca and went thither on their annual pilgrimages, so we have been looking forward to this meeting in this historic spot, "this cradle of the Confederacy." We have come from all parts of our glorious Southland, the land of heroes and sacred memories. As we pause on the threshold of the twentieth century, bright with promise and great with possibilities, and view the marvelous progress of the last hundred years, it seems almost incredible that such great things have been accomplished; but the greatest struggle which this century witnessed and recorded was the rise and fall of the Southern Confederacy, and—

"No nation e'er rose so white or fair,
Or fell so free of crime."

The South, during the dread reconstruction period, bore persecution, treachery, and misrepresentation from her enemies; but still lifting her noble countenance to the ever-living God, she to-day stands triumphantly erect and points with pride and veneration to her immortal heroes, "who fought for a cause, though lost, still just," and left to us a priceless legacy—the grandest, noblest record of any soldiers whose deeds of valor and heroism will ever be chronicled by the world's historians. Time will yet vindicate our cause.

We have assembled in this our seventh annual convention to review the year that has gone, take council for the future, and gain new strength for the duties that lie before us. The Mississippi Division has increased its membership by about one hundred new names; four new Chapters have joined our ranks, with two more now in process of organization, but which have not as yet received their charters. Most of the Chapters are engaged in some special work—such as inclosing cemeteries, raising funds for monuments, etc. Our banner Chapter at Vicksburg, besides most royally entertaining the State Convention in May, has been exerting all its energies toward the building of an annex to our State Hospital, which is located at that place. A committee appointed by our late President petitioned the Legislature and received an appropriation of $2,000 for this annex, which will be for the use of all veterans who need medical attention and will be their temporary home so long as they wish to remain. This annex is to be under the control and supervision of the Vicksburg Chapter, which, by its enthusiastic and untiring energy and by contributions from most of the Chapters, has raised sufficient funds to complete the building, which, their President informs me, will be ready for occupancy at the close of this year. It has seven large bedrooms bathroom and linen closets, and a library or sitting room, all lighted by gas and electricity. Five of the bedrooms have been taken to be furnished as “memorials.” We feel very proud for this much done for our veterans. At our State Convention, held in Vicksburg last May, an amendment was adopted to pay an annual per capita tax of 10 cents for the maintenance of the Mississippi room in the Confederate Museum at Richmond.

The plans for our new capitol, which is soon to be erected in Jackson, includes a large room, designated as the “Hall of History,” which is to be under the control of the Mississippi Division, United Daughters of the Confederacy, to be used as a repository for their archives.

While we, as a Division, were defeated in our one great hope—i. e., the appropriation by the Legislature for a soldiers’ home, still we are not discouraged, and at our last State Convention a permanent Home Committee was appointed, with our late efficient President as Chairman, said committee to act in conjunction with the officers of the United Confederate Veterans till this home shall be a reality. This committee has made a most favorable report, having a donation of the lands, about $1,000, which it can secure, besides having formulated most excellent plans for raising the remaining necessary funds, and I hope and believe that the day is not far distant when we will have a modest, but comfortable, place for our old and needy veterans, where they may rest in peace, free from toil and care, till the sands of life have ebbed to their finish, the silver thread is broken, and the disfranchised spirit soars above.

MRS. PINCKNEY MORRISON MOODY,
President Mississippi Division, U. D. C.

Mr. S. A. Cunningham, editor of the Confederate Veteran, the official organ of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, being noticed in the hall, was, on motion of Mrs. John P. Hickman, invited to a seat on the platform. It was also moved that Miss Florence Barlow, editor of the Lost Cause, be invited to the platform, which invitation she gracefully accepted; but later she relinquished in favor of Mrs. Virginia Clay Clopton.

MISSOURI.

Mrs. B. S. Robert, of the M. A. E. McLure Chapter, of St. Louis, presented the report of the Missouri Division, which was verbally delivered to the Convention, and is as follows:

To the United Daughters of the Confederacy:

I have the honor to report two new Chapters added to our Division and also an increase in membership in most of the Chapters.

The charter Chapter, the Margaret A. E. McLure, had divided its interest between the Home Cemetery, at Higginsville, and the Davis monument, at Richmond, Va., till the dreadful calamity at Galveston, Texas, aroused the members to effort in behalf of the sufferers there. This Chapter secured contributions in clothing amounting to $500. It has also devoted much time to the roster it is making of the Missouri soldiers.

Kansas City Chapter has been busy adding to its fund for a local monument. St. Joe Chapter, Higginsville Chapter, and Fayette Chapter have been engaged in raising money for the cemetery at the home in Higginsville, and have also assisted in the work of erecting a monument at Springfield. All this work was begun before the Davis monument was taken up by the United Daughters of the Confederacy, but as most of the home work will be completed this year, we hope to do our full duty to the monument to our honored President. At Fayette a fine course of history has been mapped out for the study of the Chapter during the winter.

Our State Convention was well attended and most interesting, and inspired much enthusiasm.

We look forward with hope to a union of our now divided forces, when Missouri can show her full strength.

The Missouri Division earnestly urges the United Daughters of the Confederacy throughout the States not to begin any new work till we have done our duty and put a fit monument over our loved President, who alone wore the chains and manacles for us—

“The one single victim of thousands in war.”

NEW YORK.

Mrs. W. W. Read, President of the New York Chapter, submitted the report of the chapter:

Madam President, and Fellow-members:

It is with great pleasure that I again extend greeting of the New York Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy to our Southern sisters, one and all. The past year has been the most successful one in the history of our Chapter. We have added a number of substantial and desirable members, we have increased our charity fund, and our regular meetings have been well attended. During the heated term, ice and other delicacies were supplied to some of our less fortunate sisters from the South now residing in New York.

On receipt of the news of the Galveston disaster, we sent $100 in money to Mrs. Mollie R. MacGill Rosenberg, President of Veuve Jefferson Davis Chapter, Galveston, Texas, and since that time other contributions in money and boxes of clothing have been sent.

In regard to the Jefferson Davis Monument Fund, we sent a contribution of $150, and have besides written several hundred letters to Southern gentlemen in New York, asking their aid, which we hope will be liberally responded to. At a recent meeting of our Chapter it was unanimously resolved that until this monument is completed our entire efforts shall be directed to that end.

We had the pleasure of entertaining the President of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, Mrs. E. G. Weed, twice during the year—in June, just previous to her sailing for Europe, and in October, on her return. It is scarcely necessary for me to state how much pleasure it gave each and all of us to meet our President.

The work done by this Chapter has indeed been "a labor of love;" and aside from the feeling that we are doing our part in the noble purposes for which this Order was established, our little social gatherings, called here and there, have served to bind us in still stronger ties to each other and to our dear Southern land.

Respectfully,

MRS. W. W. READ,
President New York Chapter, U. D. C.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Miss Julia Alexander, of Charlotte, read the report of the North Carolina Division:

Madam President, and United Daughters of the Confederacy:

North Carolina proudly sends you the names of twenty-six Chapters, with loving greetings from more than a thousand members. She also bears good tidings of renewed enthusiasm and increased interest

- in the grand and glorious work in which the United Daughters of the Confederacy is engaged.

Just one month prior to this we held a delightful Convention in Raleigh, our beautiful and historic capital, so rich in war-time history and memories.

I cannot more worthily open this address than by presenting the text of a resolution which was presented by Mrs. John W. Hinsdale, of that city, one of our leaders in good work among the Daughters:

"Resolved, 1. That each State Historian shall be considered to be also the Chairman of a historical committee, said committee to consist of the Presidents of Chapters.

"Resolved, 2. That it shall be the duty of each Chapter to contribute annually such sum as shall be agreed upon, with which to employ a competent person to write the history of each State, beginning with John Brown's raid, in 1859, down to the year in which the history shall be completed.

"Resolved, 3. That this history shall give the whole truth of the late war between the States, and shall correct every misrepresentation of the South which is made in the histories which are indorsed by the Grand Army of the Republic.

"Resolved, 4. That we shall never cease our endeavors to have true histories of the South taught in our public and private schools."

This resolution was favorably received by our State Convention, and it was determined to request the other States to unite with us in this most worthy and patriotic effort to obtain a true history of those times which tried men's souls, that the glory of their deeds may remain with us forever and continue a true light to lighten our pathway and that of generations yet to come. We trust that you, Madam President, will use your high influence in this body to urge the adoption of a resolution similar to this for all our States.

In giving the names of our Chapters, I seem to be counting the beads of a rosary of loving service.

Cape Fear Chapter, of Wilmington, reports a gratifying increase in membership. This Chapter celebrated General Lee's birthday in a beautiful manner, three hundred veterans, with other military organizations, assisting in the celebration. An eloquent tribute to Lee was delivered by Mr. Junius Davis, a son of Hon. George Davis, a member of the Confederate Cabinet; and in this connection it is well to say that the portrait of this distinguished man now graces the North Carolina room in Richmond. During the year sixteen graves have been marked by the Chapter, which has also contributed to all funds for which its aid has been requested.

Pamlico Chapter, of Washington, reports an increase in membership, much benevolent work, and contributions to various funds.

Gen. Robert F. Hoke Chapter, of Salisbury, reports contributions to all the funds; also the writing of a beautiful and stirring drama,

"Under the Southern Cross," by its gifted Daughter and authoress, Mrs. Frances Fisher Tiernan, who wrote this story of Southern life, hoping thereby to aid the Jefferson Davis Monument Fund. The play, "Under the Southern Cross," was written by Mrs. Tiernan (Christian Reid) to supply the great need for something in the form of a drama suitable for the use of the Daughters of the Confederacy, experience having proved that nothing is so money making as a dramatic entertainment. It is placed at the service of the organization by the author, and any Chapter desiring to produce it can obtain formal permission to do so, and a copy of the play, by addressing Mrs. Tiernan. The price of the book is $1, and this sum will be promptly turned into the treasury of the Salisbury Chapter, so that in every way the play may be making money for the many objects of the organization.

Gen. Johnston Pettigrew Chapter, of Raleigh, has contributed to all funds, and the members have engaged in other good works.

Asheville Chapter, of Asheville, has an increased membership and a consequent increase of interest. Memorial Day was observed, needy veterans were aided, and contributions have been made to several funds.

New Bern Chapter has an increased membership, has contributed to various funds, and has aided veterans with money and clothing.

Gen. James B. Gordon Chapter, of Winston-Salem, has an increased membership. It has made contributions to various funds, and money is being raised to erect a Confederate monument in that city.

Gen. Dodson Ramseur Chapter, of Concord, has contributed money to all funds; also sent contributions to the soldiers' home.

Stonewall Jackson Chapter, of Charlotte, has an increase of members; is educating the daughter of a veteran, who graduates this year, after a three-years' course; has contributed to all funds; and has aided a needy veteran.

Winnie Davis Chapter, of Pittsboro, has aided veterans, marked seventeen graves, contributed to various funds, and is studying Confederate history under the able leadership of their President, Mrs. Henry London, she having arranged a regular catechism—giving dates of battles, birthdays and deaths of different generals, and including the principal events of the war.

Statesville Chapter has contributed to different funds and engaged in other good work.

Guilford Chapter, of Greensboro, has contributed to all the funds and is collecting a library.

Samuel McDowell Tate, of Morganton, has an increased membership and is doing a noble work.

Robert E. Lee Chapter, of Lexington, is only a small band of workers, but they meet regularly, and have aided the widow of a veteran; also sent a box to the soldiers' home, purchased a flag for their local camp of Veterans, and have contributed to several other funds.

George Badger Singleary Chapter, of Greenville, has contributed to different funds, has aided the invalid daughter of a veteran, and are much interested in Confederate history—being instructed in a unique and delightful way by their President, Mrs. Thomas J. Jarvis, through the medium of a game giving the names of famous battles and generals, with many important events.

Zebulon Baird Vance Chapter, of Lenoir, though small in membership, is strong in spirit. It meets every month, and has assisted a disabled veteran and his wife. This Chapter hopes in the near future to present the Cross of Honor to the Veterans of Caldwell County.

Gen. George Burgwyn Anderson Chapter, of Hillsboro, appropriately observed September 17, the day upon which General Anderson received his mortal wound in the battle of Sharpsburg. This Chapter has contributed to all the different funds, and is working faithfully and well.

Thomas Ruffin Chapter, of Goldsboro, has contributed to all the funds, has sent a box to the soldiers' home, and is now engaged in marking the graves of soldiers. This is a very energetic Chapter.

C. C. Blacknall Chapter, of Kittrell, notwithstanding a small membership, accomplishes much under the guidance of its patriotic President, Mrs. O. W. Blacknall. It has aided veterans and their widows, has sent a box to the soldiers' home, is raising a fund to erect a memorial shaft in the center of the Confederate plot, and is the first Chapter in the State that has conferred the Cross of Honor on its veterans. Mrs. Blacknall is Chairman of the committee in charge of the grave of Annie Lee, the fair young daughter of Gen. Robert E. Lee, who died in North Carolina on October 20, 1862. Her father expressed a willingness to intrust her precious remains to the keeping of the old North State, where she rests peacefully under the cedars and beneath the shadow of a granite monument erected by the loyal people of Warren County.

Gen. Julian S. Carr Chapter, of Durham, has an increased membership, has contributed to the different funds, has also aided a number of veterans to attend the Confederate Veterans' Reunion, and is in a flourishing condition.

Anson County Chapter, of Wadesboro, has contributed to all the funds and is making efforts to mark the graves of all Confederate soldiers in that county.

William A. Closs Chapter, of Henderson, is named for a young officer who was killed while leading his company at the battle of Gaines' Mill while barely seventeen years old. The Chapter is composed of young ladies about that age. They are very much interested, and wish to become thoroughly identified with the grand work of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The John W. Dunham Chapter, of Wilson; the Alfred Moore Waddell Chapter, of Kingston; and the Granville Grays Chapter, of Oxford, are new Chapters, having only been chartered a few months. They promise well for the future.

We have four Chapters of Children of the Confederacy—Washington Grays, Julia Jackson, Annie Lee, and John Phillips Young—all interesting bands of children, being taught and led by patriotic and loving women. The Julia Jackson Chapter, under the leadership of Mrs. Sexton, edits a charming little paper, called the Gray Jacket.

I am happy to say that each Chapter has promptly paid all dues and assessments, and observes memorial days with reverence and pleasure.

It is a source of boundless regret that I am unable to be with you in person on this interesting occasion, but I am capably represented by Mrs. William H. Overman, President-elect of the North Carolina Division for the ensuing year, and she is also fully accredited to act as my proxy in every respect. Faithfully yours,

LIDA TUNSTALL RODMAN,

Washington, N. C. President North Carolina Division, U. D. C.

OKLAHOMA.

The Oklahoma Chapter submitted no report.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

Mrs. Thomas Taylor, President of the South Carolina Division, submitted her report, as follows:

Madam President, and Members of the United Daughters of the Confederacy:

I have the honor to present the report of the South Carolina Division. This Division notes the approach of the time when the care of our order will not be required for living Confederates. We understand that this being the case would not bankrupt the Daughters of the Confederacy; they would still hold their heritage to aid and sustain patriotic integrity. Therefore we have been, as a Division, seeking ways and means of fixing our labor as a permanent influence in reducing the ideal to practical fact in the future lives of our people. Some Chapters continue to report charity work; most of them report commemorative activity. The Division supplemented the Chapter work by Division committee work, especially one upon Historical Research.

It is not infrequent that ill-equipped contestants for truth come to disaster, because they cannot handle their resources; but being defeated in argument, they are ranked as trophies by opponents, whilst they have only been poor champions. A plan of study is offered by this Division committee to meet this lack, whereby the strength of information may be obtained to support the breathless ardor of impassioned assertion. It is a prime object to also attain to a complete history of the war—not merely to correct statistics falsely presented and to withdraw such text-books from schools.

A Division committee has been engaged in this matter, jointly with the Sons of Veterans, but we do not design to stop at school books. The country cannot be historically presented by the chronicles of four years of sacrificial glory; the contest itself cannot be shut into the records of those years of military struggle. The Confederate war should be classed with those world-wide movements which do not begin or end with themselves, which do not remain within boundaries, which become universal thrill. All the patriotisms of all the peoples of the earth were vitalized in that civilization which called men, women, and children to the work of 1860. Confederates should know where, when, and how began that superb war, which was a poetic prophecy. That war means heroic sentiment and just thought, bound into active, willing sacrifice by a people. It is our crown, but we had been winning to it ever since our Saxons sat in Witan Moot, under England's oaks, settling principles and honor into the science of government. The Englishman, Bryce, says of Chief Justice Marshall: "His majestic intellect and elevation of character gave him such ascendancy that in fifty-one decrees on constitutional questions he was but once in the minority. His judgments, for their philosophical breadth, luminous exactness of reasoning, the fine political sense which pervades them, have not been superseded and rarely equaled by the most famous jurists of modern Europe or of ancient Rome. He revealed that capacity for growth which characterizes the constitution beyond all other rigid and supreme constitutions." That constitution, we remember, is till to-day the basis upon which are founded the government policies of the United States. Some Southern wisdom was wrought into the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States, the Bill of Rights, and other fundamental papers affecting American affairs.

Deeming that we should be inexcusable to relinquish by historical nonassertion the influence upon ourselves of these property rights which we hold in American statecraft and leadership, we hope that our State, with all of the other States, is moving toward a philosophical history of the American people, like "Green's History of the Growth of the English People."

Medals have been placed in a number of institutions, offered for essays upon matters pertaining to the Confederacy. With the hope of engaging the consideration of the young men of the State for the bearing upon common interests of that statesmanship which culminated in secession, the subject for four years was made serial in the South Carolina College. The first section was, "The Causes of the War—Incipient, Remote, and Immediate;" the second, "The Alternative of the War—If There Were an Alternative;" the third, "What Was the Effect—Educational, Industrial, and Moral—made on our State (People) by the Result of the War?" the fourth, "The Women as a Factor in the War." I had the honor of presenting to the essayist upon this last division of the subject one of the reproductions of the seal of the Confederacy, presented to me by Mrs. E. Wadsworth Ayres, President of Stonewall Jackson Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, as a personal gift, by which she honored me and the State's endeavors to reach to the high influences of our people.

A tablet, in memoriam of the Columbia men who went from Trinity Church to the field and never came home alive, is being engraved, and, by consent and indorsement of the vestry, will be placed inside of the sacred edifice.

In the churchyard lies one who came back—fragile, but resolute in service as war correspondent when unable to do duty as a warrior. Henry Timrod, soldier and poet, shouts from under the mound which cannot silence his soul:

"Hold up the glories of thy dead, Carolina!"

These words of his own will be inscribed upon the slab to the Trinity Church soldiers.

Organization of the children has been attempted. One school of fourteen little children collected, in a mite box, $2.30, which they sent to me to aid in erecting the Jefferson Davis monument.

A hospital bed has been devoted to a Confederate, subject to the demand of Hampton Camp. The hospital is the enterprise of women of Columbia, who are also Daughters of the Confederacy.

The Chapters, in their independent capacity, considered the interests of the Richmond Museum Room. The sum contributed by the Chapters was sent direct to the Vice Regent at Richmond, Va., and meets the annual expenses of the room, as specified to the State President by the Vice Regent of the Literary Memorial Society.

I had the appeal of Mrs. Behan printed and sent to my Chapters, referring to the removal of our dead from certain national cemeteries to a resting place within the Confederate borders.

The occupancy of the lower part of South Carolina by the foe resulted in an immense amount of refugeing women and children shifting, along with their negroes, into the mid country and upper country, and meeting circumstances of great strain, developed self-reliance and endurance of unusual strength. We are seeking to gather narratives of such conditions in which women became factors in sustaining and creating resources in the country. These women did not spring up in a day; they had been accumulating characteristics to meet the dilemma of 1860 since their foremothers started down the years from colonial manor and cabin. There is reason to believe these narratives of Confederate women will be as valuable as those of the Revolutionary women, and Mrs. Ellet's scant collection of these is being republished by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The Jefferson Davis monument was adopted by the Division, and the Chapters have generally responded. I requested the Chapters to send their funds directly to the State member of the committee, who will report collections to the Chairman of the Jefferson Davis Monument Committee. The urgent influence of the Division President and the State member on the Jefferson Davis Monument Committee has been expended upon this monument. The Division will not meet until December 5, at which date I expect a check, to be drawn on the South Carolina Division treasury, to be remitted to the Chairman of the committee.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. THOMAS TAYLOR,
President South Carolina Division, U. D. C.

TENNESSEE.

Mrs. T. J. Latham, President of the Tennessee Division, made the report of the Division, which follows:

I am sure we all feel it a privilege to be in Montgomery, the cradle of the Confederacy; but, more particularly, because the Chapters of the United Daughters of the Confederacy have extended to us a cordial and earnest invitation, at every National Convention, to come and enjoy the hospitality of Montgomery. Your gifted Mrs. Richardson, in her own lovely and graceful manner, said, "Come now, come at any time; our doors and hearts are open to the United Daughters of the Confederacy;" and so we are here. We already feel the true hospitality of old Alabama, and that it is truly the land of "Here we rest."

I promise you that my report shall be as concise as possible, though I must embody all the reports of the Tennessee Chapters. I know that details, however important, are very tiresome, which is my excuse for submitting these reports much condensed. Tennessee has now 28 Chapters, with a membership of 1,200, and I am proud to announce, has the third largest number of Chapters in the United Daughters of the Confederacy. It was the first State to organize educational work for the benefit of daughters and granddaughters of veterans, and is endeavoring to establish a permanent fund for this purpose. Though all the Chapters are doing good work, I must be personal to the extent of referring particularly to the two Nashville Chapters, in that they devote much time and means in providing for the comfort of the veterans in the soldiers' home. Nothing in our work appeals to me so tenderly as the importance of working for the living veterans, who are fast passing away. Sixteen died this year at the Hermitage Home, of Tennessee. At this rate we will not need many more homes for veteran soldiers. I am happy in making the statement that we have established and chartered the following new Chapters since the Richmond Convention; John Lauderdale Chapter, Dyersburg; Shiloh Chapter, Savannah; Thomas Nelson Page Chapter, Newport; Russell Hill Chapter, Trenton; Sam. Davis Chapter, Morristown; John C. Brown Chapter, Prospect Station. There is also a probability of Chapters being established at Humboldt and at Paris.

Chapter No. 1, of Nashville, being the first Chapter established of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, still keeps in the lead in active work by responding to all patriotic appeals at home and abroad, and by building and assisting to build monuments, which will live long after every member of our present organization will have passed away. Mrs. M. C. Goodlet is deeply interested in the educational fund, and has secured free education in several schools and colleges for daughters of poor veterans. The Chapter, with the assistance of friends, has raised $1,699, giving to the Jefferson Davis Monument and to the necessities and comfort of the veteran soldiers in the home, or elsewhere. In April the Chapter assisted the Frank Cheatham Camp in raising $244 to enable old Confederate soldiers to attend the Louisville Reunion. The two Chapters, Nashville and Bate, work together in harmony, thus providing money liberally. They recently realized, by luncheons, $500. Nashville Chapter proved its enterprise and liberality by donating $50 to the Forrest Monument Fund, for which Sarah Law Chapter sent up three lively cheers. Nashville Chapter and Bate Chapter are now engaged in raising money to build an addition to the hospital at the soldiers' home, and I think our organization, the United Daughters of the Confederacy, should, during this Convention assembled, make a fair contribution to this fund. It is better work for the poor, disabled veterans than to build even merited monuments to the dead.

The William B. Bate Chapter, also at Nashville, is active, prosperous, and generous; its increase, last year, of 25 members proves this. This Chapter furnished $31.25 worth of ice and $10 for telephone for the soldiers' home, and a subscription to the monument at Winchester, Va., erected in honor of Tennessee dead, and it was first in bestowing the Crosses of Honor in Tennessee to the Cheatham Bivouac. The spirit of love and harmony in the Bate Chapter makes the work of its President, Mrs. Handly, delightful. The two Chapters, Bate and Nashville, won the first prize at the flower parade, last year, for best display, and they generously provided with the money a magnificent music box for the soldiers' home, which is their delight. This Chapter of 43 members caused the hearts of the Memphis Chapter great joy by its generous donation of $50 to the Forrest Monument Fund. Death carried away two of its most loved and useful members, Mrs. Margaret Leland and Mrs. L. H. Bush.

Chattanooga Chapter has a membership of 100. The work of the Chapter is done through committees—benevolent, memorial, entertainment, and educational—assisting all Confederate Veterans in sickness and need, and protecting and caring for Confederate cemetery and Memorial Day exercises. This Chapter has one large entertainment each year, also literary entertainments and parliamentary drills. It has been most liberal in giving $37 to Winnie Davis Monument, $100 to educational fund, and $100 for Forrest Camp, and is now building a stone wall to protect the Confederate Cemetery. It preserves the records of Memorial Day exercises, and is greatly interested in the success of the State and national work.

Franklin Chapter, No. 14, has erected a $2,500 Confederate monument, which was unveiled on the anniversary of the battle of Franklin, on November 30, 1899, in the center of the Public Square at Franklin. It has also made a contribution to the monument in Winchester, Va., and is now furnishing the veterans of Williamson County with the badges of the Cross of Honor, and is trying to bring all possible influence to bear on Congress to establish a national park on the Franklin battlefield. The bill is now pending. The Chapter has contributed $10 to the Forrest Monument to be erected at Memphis.

South Pittsburg Chapter is quite small—only 15 in number—but is an example to those having a hundred members, being ever ready to respond to all worthy calls. This Chapter contributed to the Jefferson Davis, Winnie Davis, and Sam. Davis monuments; to several memorial windows and Confederate cemeteries; to the Davis portrait; sent $10 to me for the Forrest Monument, saying they "regretted it was not $50;" and members of this Chapter will respond to the educational appeal. God bless them.

Several members of Forrest Chapter, of Brownsville, have been afflicted with much sickness, and therefore have not accomplished all they desired. They will, however, send a contribution to the Forrest Monument Fund.

The Lebanon Chapter is patriotic and full of enterprise. It gave the State Division an invitation to hold its next Convention there in May, which was unanimously accepted, and the Tennessee Chapters look forward with great pleasure to being present. Lebanon Chapter extend an invitation to all Tennesseans, and any other United Daughters of the Confederacy, to be present. The Chapter does not neglect the soldiers' home, having contributed $25 to the hospital fund.

The Musidora McCorry Chapter, of Jackson, it occurs to me, is one of the very best in the State, having raised and donated $150 to the Forrest Monument Fund. The membership, last November, was 45; to-day, it is 92. This Chapter has contributed to every patriotic work of the United Daughters of the Confederacy when called on. The State Convention, held in Jackson last year, was a grand one in every respect. The royal reception of all delegates in attendance was, and has been ever since, our theme. We were met by a charming committee—headed by the genial and capable President, Mrs. William Holland—with carriages, and entertained most hospitably at the homes of the members and citizens. The weather was fine, the flowers seemed to bloom for us, and the profusion was magnificent. The eloquent address of welcome, by Mrs. Richard Balch, was greatly appreciated by all. The entertainments and receptions were most elegant.

The dear veterans were conspicuous at all the sessions, giving us their countenances and smiles and furnishing carriages for a drive over the beautiful "city of flowers." "All hail the Daughters, veterans, and good citizens of Jackson, Tenn.!" was the enthusiastic shout, as the cars were leaving with the Daughters and delegates on their return home. McCorry Chapter has paid for a scholarship for a soldier's daughter to the Jackson Business College, and has aided in establishing several Chapters.

The Columbia Chapter has a membership of 48, and is prompt in both State work and United Daughters of the Confederacy work, sending delegates to the Conventions, believing this the best plan to keep in touch with the work. This Chapter furnished more than $200 for patriotic purposes—contributing to needy Confederate Veterans and widows; takes care of, beautifies, and marks all graves of Confederate soldiers in the lovely cemetery of Rose Hill; and if delegates are not able to attend the State Conventions, the Chapter sends them. Mrs. E. H. Hatcher, the efficient and much-loved President, is also Treasurer of the State Division and Chairman of the Forrest Monument Fund Committee to secure donations from Chapters of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. She raised more money for the Sam. Davis Monument than any other individual. This Chapter will donate a sum of $50 or more to the Forrest Monument.

The Kirby-Smith Chapter, at Sewanee, is patriotic under the leadership of Miss Frances Kirby-Smith. This Chapter contributed $65 to the Jefferson Davis Monument and $45 to the hospital at the soldiers' home in Nashville.

The Pulaski Chapter is working with great earnestness to build a monument to Sam. Davis.

The Sarah Law Chapter, at Memphis, has worked diligently all summer to realize money to build the Forrest Monument and realized over $1,000, the whole amount wanted being $6,000. It expects to begin the monument by laying the corner-stone during the reunion to be held in Memphis. This Chapter is always ready to extend a helping hand to every worthy Confederate cause, and did hard and effective work during the late war in supplying medicine, pillow-slips, towels, and literature to the army stationed at Chattanooga and other places. Every thought and dollar is turned toward the endeavor to get funds for the Forrest Monument, as the whole country seems to feel that neglect to have done so before is inexcusable and unpardonable. The Chapter gave a tea, in May, by which it expected to raise a large sum for the educational fund; but unfortunately rain poured in torrents all day, preventing a large attendance. However, we sent what we realized to Mrs. Cliff, Chairman. Mrs. T. J. Latham organized the Chapter, and was its only President till she was elected President of the State Division.

The Clark Chapter, at Gallatin, through its gifted Recording Secretary, Miss Mary G. Gloster, reports fine, patriotic work. She is the State Historian, elected at the Jackson Convention.

The Shiloh Chapter, at Savannah, was organized in March, 1900, with 26 members. The object of this organization is to honor the heroic dead who fell in the battle of Shiloh April 6 and 7, 1862, and to aid in the work of building a monument on this memorable field, which has been so long neglected. The Chapter is in its infancy, but will undertake this work, hoping to have aid from all the States, as soldiers are buried there from the entire South. By reference to the "History of Tennessee," by Garrett, and to the one by Goodpasture, it is found that 1,728 soldiers are buried there. The blood of the sons of every State mingle with this hallowed soil. The Chapter appeals to the Daughters for assistance, and will be grateful for contributions.

The Knoxville Chapter is in its usual satisfactory condition. There is always an entertaining historical paper read, and music, recitations, and often addresses by distinguished guests. In May, Mrs. McKinney was elected President for the fourth time. She is capable, energetic, active in all affairs pertaining to the advancement of her Chapter. This Chapter issues a calendar at the first meeting in the fall, in which the year's work is laid out, that all may know when they may be called on to furnish a paper or otherwise serve the Chapter. It seldom refuses any call for help, and this year it subscribed $50 to the educational fund and $50 to the Jefferson Davis Monument. January 19 (General Lee's birthday) and May 19 (General Zollicoffer's birthday) are observed as social occasions. This Chapter was quite successful in the entertainments of reading, by Mrs. Gielow and Miss Caroline Gordon, daughter of General Gordon.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. T. J. LATHAM,
President.

TEXAS.

Mrs. B. B. Tobin, President of the Texas Division, submitted the report of her Division, which is as follows:

Mrs. President and Daughters of the Confederacy:

The Texas Division has been largely increased by membership in Chapters and by the organization of twenty-one new Chapters.

On April 21 the beautiful Confederate Monument, erected in Travis Square, San Antonio, by the Barnard E. Bee Chapter, was unveiled with appropriate ceremonies. Too much praise cannot be accorded to the successful efforts of this grand Chapter, the largest Chapter in the State Division.

An elegant organ has been presented by the Division to the Confederate Home. Many comforts and luxuries have been sent to the dear old soldiers during the year by the different Chapters. Several hundred dollars have been contributed for the construction of a road leading from the main entrance of the home to the gateway, and many of the Chapters are preparing to build monuments to our Texas heroes, and all of the Chapters are caring for and beautifying their Confederate cemeteries.

An elegant 400-page register has been presented to the Division by our patriotic Historian, Miss Adelia Dunovant. She has also composed a beautiful hymn, which is sung on all patriotic days. Her work as Historian speaks for itself. The Confederate columns in the Houston Post and the Galveston News, edited, respectively, by Mrs. Seabrook Snyder and Miss Dunovant, have done much to increase the interest in our State work. A bright little magazine, entitled the Confederate Daughter, edited by Mrs. E. I. Myers, of Austin, has been a most helpful medium of communication between the Chapters.

The work of Mrs. Cone Johnson, the State Secretary, has been (with the largely increased membership) very laborious, but she has proven herself to be one of the most capable and invaluable secretaries. She has been assisted by Mrs. J. T. I. L. Bomer, of Tyler. Our State Division is most certainly indebted to these efficient women for their unselfish labors. The different Chapters have contributed liberally to the Jefferson Davis Monument and to all worthy objects when called upon.

The State Convention will be entertained by Navarro Chapter, of Corsicana. Navarro Chapter is the second largest Chapter in the State Division. Its membership is composed of many of the most intellectual and prominent women of Texas. A most pleasing feature of the Convention will be the presentation of a Lone Star flag, which was captured by the Federal troops near New Orleans, La., just before the close of the war. This flag will be presented to the Division by Mrs. Mary A. Lull, of Milford, N. H. Mrs. Mollie Reagan Mobbly, a daughter of Judge John H. Reagan, whom we all delight to honor, will receive the flag. Mrs. Mobbly is a member of the John H. Reagan Chapter, of Palestine.

The Texas Division has accomplished much good during 1900; but—alas!—entwined among our laurels is the cypress. The beautiful flag which our beloved and honored Mrs. Rosenberg has carried with such pride to all of our Conventions, stands there draped with mourning. These emblems of death tell the sad story of that dark and awful night of September 8, when thousands of our people, tossed by the winds and waves, passed, after much suffering, into eternity. Many of our noble, faithful Daughters perished, and Texas is in mourning for the dead. When the telegraph flashed the news of this terrible calamity to the world, the entire nation responded to the appeal for help. From every section of our country contributions of everything needed by those poor sufferers were sent in. All felt it was truly a national calamity. We need nothing to prove what a thoroughly united people we are, under one grand and glorious flag.

“The star-spangled banner—
O, long may it wave
O'er the land of the free
And the home of the brave!”

I am glad to be in Montgomery, glad to be present in our United Daughters of the Confederacy Convention. Texas sends greetings. It seems eminently appropriate that we, the Daughters of the Confederacy, should meet in Montgomery, once the capital of the Confederacy. Where are those brave and gallant men who gave their service, their fortunes, their lives, to their country's honor? Alas! They have passed over the river. I often think with pleasure of the joyful greeting that must have welcomed our “peerless, unconquered old chieftain, Jefferson Davis,” when he passed from the shadow of the Lost Cause into the noonday and splendor of heaven. Yes, a joyful greeting from his beloved comrades and soldiers!

Standing here to-day in this historic old hall, filled with the echo of the voices of our glorious past, let us renew our determination to preserve the truth of history; to treasure with sacred fidelity that beautiful, starry cross for which our fathers fought and died; and to transmit, unstained, to our children's children their glorious heritage of Southern truth and valor.

The Veuve Jefferson Davis Chapter, of Galveston, contributed $32 to place a memorial window in the Texas Room in the Confederate Museum, in Richmond, Va., to the memory of John B. Hood, the illustrious commander of the Texas Brigade. Mrs. Mollie R. Macgill Rosenberg, President of the Galveston Chapter, presented to the Texas Room in the Confederate Museum a life-size portrait, in oil, of Winnie Davis, at a cost of $300. This Chapter also contributed $600 to the fund to erect the monument to President Davis in Richmond, Va., and Mrs. Rosenberg added to this donation the sum of $115 for the same purpose.

MRS. BENEDETTE B. TOBIN,
President of the State Division.

On motion of Mrs. J. A. Rounsaville, a silent rising vote of sincere sympathy was given by the Convention for the suffering during the recent Galveston disaster.

Mrs. N. V. Randolph moved that $150 be appropriated from the treasury for the Galveston Chapter, to be dispensed at the discretion of the Chapter. This was objected to by the Texas delegates, as they felt that the Chapters of the United Daughters of the Confederacy had already contributed liberally enough to this cause. However, the motion was seconded and adopted.

VIRGINIA.

Mrs. E. H. O'Brien, of Alexandria, submitted the report of the Virginia Division.

On motion, Mrs. Norvell Otey Scott was allowed to supplement the report of the Virginia Division with some information that was not received in time to be embraced in the Division report.

In the absence of superior officers, it becomes my duty, as Custodian, to read the report of the Virginia Division. I bring you a hearty greeting from our dear old State, and report that while our people have been much concerned and disquieted for some little time past, the election now being over, "all is quiet along the Potomac." Our recent Convention was held in Woodstock, in the far-famed valley of Virginia. While enjoying a delightful drive up the valley turnpike through Taylortown, Edinburg, and historic Mt. Jackson, gazing upon the magnificent scenery before us, the beautiful homes, and highly cultivated farms, we wondered if this could be that same "valley" on which the Army of Northern Virginia so sadly gazed, "when a crow, in flying over it, had to carry its rations on its back." I submit the following report:

Madam President, and Daughters of the Confederacy:

Having been honored by being reelected President of the Virginia Division, it becomes my very pleasant duty to extend a cordial greeting to the United Daughters of the Confederacy, now assembled in our Seventh Annual Convention, and to report to you the condition of affairs in this Division.

At our State Convention, held in Woodstock, on October 10, 1900, a very careful investigation of Chapter reports found our affairs in a thoroughly satisfactory condition. New members have been added to all the Chapters, which are beautifully and harmoniously engaged on the different lines of work which they have assumed. Two new Chapters applied for their charters, but as they were not sent in in time to be formally received, I refrain from making an official report of them, our Division never claiming a Chapter not incorporated in our United Daughters of the Confederacy. Three other Chapters are being formed, which, in due time, we will report.

While most excellent work has been done by all the Chapters, there are two or three which deserve special mention. The first of these is the Kirkwood Otey, of Lynchburg, which has, at last, accomplished the object for which it was formed—i. e., the erection of a splendid shaft in memory of the volunteer Confederate soldiers of that city, which more fittingly than in song or story expresses eternal gratitude and steadfast memory for their heroic dead. A most excellent work is also done by this Chapter, in supporting a cot in one of the Lynchburg retreats for the use of sick Confederate veterans. Another Chapter deserving special mention is the Pickett-Buchanan Chapter, of Norfolk, which has succeeded in placing—in the center of the lot set apart, in the City Cemetery, for the unknown Confederate dead—a memorial to the "Poet of the South," Father Ryan. I wish to say in this connection, that as soon as it became generally known that this was to be done, many letters were addressed to me from different parts of the South, asking to be allowed to contribute to this cause, but the ladies of this Chapter having established, beyond doubt, the fact that Father Ryan was born in Norfolk, preferred to raise the funds for the memorial within the limits of his native city. His memory still lives and is precious to all Southern people. I would also speak of the auxiliary of this Pickett-Buchanan Chapter, known as the "Young Daughters of the Confederacy," which is doing splendid work and now has on its roll 130 names. The membership of our State Division is 1,233.

In connection with the Jefferson Davis Memorial Fund, of which I am one of the Executive Committee, I take great pride in reporting how nobly the Chapters of this Division have responded, the banner Chapter, thus far, being the Black Horse, of Warrenton, Miss Mary Amelia Smith, President, the entire sum given by them being over $400. If every Chapter throughout the South would do the same, our limit of $100,000 would soon be reached and a monument worthy of our President of the Confederacy erected.

The Virginia Division is thoroughly in sympathy with the Southern Memorial Association in its work of bringing the dead soldiers home to rest in their own native soil. Confederate graves belong to the women of the South, to be cared for in loving gratitude by the Southern people, for whom those graves were filled. We will gladly aid Mrs. Behan and the members of her association as far as lies in our power.

Norfolk, Va.

MRS. JAMES Y. LEIGH,
President Virginia Division.

GRAND DIVISION.

Mrs. S. T. McCullough, President of the Grand Division, presented the report of that Division:

Madam President, and Daughters of the Confederacy:

In calling for the annual reports from the Chapters, we requested a summary of all work since organization, and the responses were most satisfactory.

Since the Grand Division was formed, in 1896, it has chartered 44 Chapters, enrolling over 2,000 members. Of these Chapters, 3 were transferred to the Virginia Division, 1 was transferred to the West Virginia Division, 3 have disbanded or ceased to work, and 37 are active at this time.

The initial Chapter—Albemarle or Kate Noland Garnett—has 111 members; and, besides general work, cares for needy Veterans.

Bethel Chapter has contributed to all causes, and one of its members, Mrs. Betty Vess, presented a gavel made of wood from the battlefield of Bethel to the Division.

Petersburg Chapter is unceasing in the work, and cares for Veterans and their families very liberally.

J. E. B. Stuart Chapter has almost doubled its membership; besides a donation to the Davis fund, the chapter aided S. J. Camp to remove to the Confederate Cemetery in Staunton the bodies of the soldiers who died in the Smallpox Hospital in 1862. The Relief Committee is a very busy one.

Mary Custis Lee Chapter, besides giving to all objects, cares for the Cemetery where Jackson, the Pendletons, Dr. B. Tucker Lacy, and many other heroes sleep.

Richmond Chapter is hard at work securing the pledge of $550 to the Davis Fund, and the beautiful Confederate Calendar prepared by Mrs. Vawter and her committee is now in your hands, to sell for your own credit upon the Davis Monument Fund. Nine hundred and twenty-six dollars has been given by this Chapter for monuments.

The Richmond Chapter immediately on hearing of Galveston's distress called a meeting, and telegraphed to Mrs. Rosenberg $50.

Waynesboro Chapter is raising a fund to care for soldiers' graves, and has $178 now on deposit.

Montgomery Chapter has a small, but zealous, membership, and cares for her Veterans and answers all appeals.

Turner Ashby Chapter, Harrisonburg, has helped rear the Ashby Monument, and makes Memorial Day services beautiful and impressive.

Fredericksburg Chapter has contributed to the Davis Fund several times, aids Veterans, and has an open hand for all demands.

Anne Eliza Johns Chapter is named for a sainted woman, who nursed the sick and wounded of both armies and taught a school for girls during a generation in Danville. They never refuse to lend a helping hand and gave to the Davis Fund.

Farmville, a small Chapter, has erected a monument to the soldiers of Prince Edward County, and is always working. Caroline Chapter, retaining the same membership, shows no decrease of interest in any branch of work.

Hampton Chapter strews with flowers the graves of the three hundred Confederates buried in the National Cemetery. A monument costing $1,000 has just been unveiled. The Chapter of the Children of the Confederacy is very large, and the Davis Fund received their aid.

Malinda King Anderson Chapter is alive to her duties, and works on very quietly and steadily.

Londoun Chapter is working for an amount large enough to mark her soldiers graves, but did not omit a gift to the Davis Fund.

Rappahannock Chapter has reared a monument to the dead of her County and generously remembered the Davis Fund.

Suffolk Chapter is loyal and zealous; the soldiers' graves have been marked and a handsome silk flag was presented to the Suffolk Camp.

Dr. Harvey Black Chapter is in good working order, though modest in proclaiming her own deeds.

Manassas Chapter is most responsive to all appeals, and cares for the Cemetery on that historic ground.

Stonewall Chapter has young ladies for all its officers, and has given to all the objects presented.

Gen. D. H. Maury Chapter will remove the Confederate dead from Philadelphia to Hollywood Cemetery in May, and erect over their dust a granite monument, with inscriptions upon bronze tablets.

Pittsburg Chapter is small, but eager, and is always faithful, though working in an alien atmosphere.

Flora Stuart Chapter has cared for Veterans and given to all causes, not omitting the Davis Fund.

Anna Stonewall Chapter has a good membership, and keeps steadily and quietly at work.

Middleburg Chapter cares for Veterans, but forgets nothing; her sentiments are "a Confederate monument on every hilltop and on each street corner of the South." The spirit of this we can all feel.

Fluvanna Chapter has raised a monument at Palmyra, and wishes to know the name of every soldier buried there, if their families can give the information.

Smyth County Chapter is about the same in membership, and is always working on many lines.

Turner Ashby Chapter, Winchester, never forgets and never rests from her labors, for the city taken and retaken a hundred times is unmindful of her heritage.

Essex Chapter is alive and eager; a fund is almost secured to place bronze tablets in the Court House, bearing the names of all the soldiers in the County.

Harrison-Harwood Chapter has the remarkable record of raising $600 and erecting a monument within the year.

Eighth Virginia Regiment Chapter is only one year old, but its growth is sure and its capacity fully proved.

Dinwiddie Chapter is first of the three new Chapters and was chartered with seventeen members and bright prospects.

Alleghany Chapter, Covington, is the second new Chapter; it was chartered with thirty-two members, and at once went to work for the Davis Fund.

Fairfax Chapter, the youngest one in the Grand Division, has twelve members, and will grow and speak for herself next year.

The annual meeting was held in Danville. Much business was transacted and pleasure bestowed. The reception in the historic Suthulin Mansion, with hostess' remembrances of Mr. Davis and his staff during those sad April days under her roof, is never to be forgotten. The tea by the President, Mrs. Berryman Green, was one of unusual camaraderie, and tattered flags from North Carolina and Virginia added pathetic shadows to the pleasures.

NELLIE HOTCHKISS M'CULLOUGH,
President.

Mrs. C. B. Stone, of Texas, reported that Fluvanna Chapter had contributed $5 to the Galveston sufferers; Bethel Chapter, $10; and Pickett-Buchanan Chapter, $10.

WEST VIRGINIA.

Mrs. V. F. McSherry, President of the West Virginia Division, submitted the report of her Division, which is as follows:

Madam President and United Daughters of the Confederacy:

I come to you from the far off Mountain State of West Virginia, bringing with me most affectionate greetings to the fair and noble Daughters of the South. You may think that we who live in a colder climate are not as enthusiastic as you who possess the warm Southern blood; I assure you you are mistaken. We appreciate the heroes of the Confederate Army, who suffered so much and who dared so much. They have left a sacred trust to the generation which is now treading the steps of life, and that trust is that we should, on the altars of our hearts and in the knowledge of posterity, keep alive the memories which cluster about that great struggle. They have left the younger generation the sacred trust, that the poor and infirm Veteran should be cared for and comforted in his old age. The Daughters are powerful auxiliaries to these ends.

In 1863 the State of West Virginia was organized from a part of Virginia, consisting of 54 counties, many of which are noted for their minerals, fine timber, petroleum, and the great luxury, natural gas; and, while the State is but 37 years old, we feel she stands out before the universe as something to be proud of.

But we cannot boast that we all think alike as to the war between the States. In many towns in the State we labor under great disadvantages, but we stand closely together and watch tenderly the old Veterans who fought for us, lost all their worldly possessions, and are now dependent upon the mercies of the Daughters, as I hope to show you by my report:

Charlestown, Jefferson County, the home of the Washingtons, is doing well. They have added to the Memorial Fund, $70; contributed to Bull Run Cemetery, $5; to Jefferson Davis Monument, $10; and helped needy Confederates. The roll has fallen off, but they hope for greater success.

The Gerardstown Chapter has done well; the interest has very much increased. A very successful entertainment was held in the summer, which I attended; membership, 35.

The Leetown Chapter's work has been to get head and foot stones for the soldiers who lie buried in the cemetery of the village.

Ronceverte Chapter has contributed $10 to the Monroe and $5 to the Jefferson Davis Monument. Its work is not great, but it does all it can to perpetuate the interest, do for the old soldiers, and care for those who lie near them. This Chapter held a successful entertainment, realizing $25.

Shepherdstown Chapter continues its sacred interest in the work. The children are active and interested. There have been four additions since the last report.

The Union Chapter has kept in perfect accord and sympathy with all Confederate work. The interest this year is centered in the Confederate Monument that is being erected in the town. The old Confederates have been assisted. As these good women have opportunity they speak the word of praise and righteousness of the Confederate cause, especially to the young.

The meetings of the Wheeling Chapter are held at the call of the President. The Chapter subscribes to the Confederate Veteran and Lost Cause, and has a charity ball annually, which is a source of pleasure and adds much to the treasury. The Sherrer Grays will erect a monument to their dead, and the Chapter will deem it a privilege to contribute. President Davis' birthday is observed as Memorial Day. Wheeling Chapter made the following contributions: To Marietta, Ga., $10; a box of clothing to Ohio veterans; Mt. Jackson Monument, $5; Jefferson Davis Monument, $23; and to the West Virginia soldiers at Richmond, $10.

Bluefield Chapter has a paying membership of 30. The chief work this year has been aiding the needy veterans. The Treasurer reports $175.

It is with deep regret that Hedgesville Chapter can only make a report of growth in grace and perseverance, and a determination not to be overcome by adverse circumstances. The work has been a "Jefferson Davis tea," held on the night of June 23, $5 of the proceeds of which was sent to the Jefferson Davis Monument Fund.

Huntington Chapter has a membership of 50. It has erected a monument of granite and bronze, which was unveiled in June. The Chapter is in a flourishing condition.

Charleston Chapter has a membership of 108 zealous workers. Our State Convention was held there in June, and if any of you honor us with a visit, I advise you to stop there. Its kindness and hospitality cannot be excelled. It is flourishing. This Chapter contributed $100 to the Jefferson Davis Monument Fund, and is constantly working for the good of our cause.

Beverly Chapter is doing well. It contributed $10 to the Jefferson Davis Monument.

The Lewisburg Chapter is working to protect the neglected graves at the White Sulphur Springs.

Morefield Chapter is caring for many needy soldiers.

Romney, Ripley, Academy, Buckhannon, and Clover Lick Chapters are ready and willing to do what their hands find to do.

Berkeley County Chapter, the banner Chapter, has a membership of 133. Much good has been accomplished by this organization. Nine old veterans have been furnished with much needed assistance; one has passed away this year. Applications for help are constantly coming in, making us feel that we must work hard to keep the wolf from their doors. We contributed to Bull Run Cemetery, and $25 to the Jefferson Davis Monument Fund. We have on interest and in bank the sum of $1,200.

Parkersburg Chapter, the infant Chapter of the Division, was organized on May 10, 1900, with 14 members. Monthly meetings are held, which are made pleasant by a short literary programme. Arrangements are being made for a thanksgiving entertainment, to raise funds for the purpose of erecting headstones and footstones over the graves of the Confederates who lie in and about Wood County. Four hundred dollars has also been raised by the ladies, under the auspices of the Camp.

I have spoken of the work of my Chapters, for I want you all to know what Confederate work can be accomplished in our State, notwithstanding the disadvantages we labor under. After erecting several monuments, assisting old soldiers (for we have no home, no State appropriation), and giving $174.50 to the Jefferson Davis Monument, I am proud to say, in conclusion, that I am a Confederate Daughter of West Virginia.

Respectfully submitted,

VIRGINIA FAULKNER M'SHERRY,
President West Virginia Division, U. D. C.

A motion was made that hereafter there should be no such expression used by the United Daughters of the Confederacy as the "lost cause," and that "loved cause" be substituted. Mrs. William A. Gayle, of Alabama, suggested that "sacred cause" be substituted. After considerable discussion, the motion and suggestion were put and lost.

Mrs. Virginia Clay Clopton made some very fitting and convincing remarks on this subject, which were enthusiastically received by the Convention.

The Convention then adjourned until 3:30 P.M.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Convention was called to order at 3:30 o'clock by the President.

Invitations were received to hold the Convention of 1901 at Niagara Falls and Buffalo, N. Y.; Columbia, S. C.; Memphis, Tenn.; and Wilmington, N. C. A telegram was read from Gen. C. A. Evans, commanding the Georgia Division, United Confederate Veterans, saying that the Camps of that Division had pledged a ten-cent-per-capita tax for the Davis Monument, and the Division had contributed $37.10 in cash for that purpose.

On motion, Col. William C. Oates, of Montgomery, was extended the courtesy of the Convention to present a book written by Mrs. Ockenden to be sold for the monument at Chickamauga by the Ladies' Memorial Association, his presentation to be made to-morrow at 12 o'clock.

Mrs. N. V. Randolph offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

That the United Daughters of the Confederacy send words of cheer and congratulation to Mrs. Stonewall Jackson, on her return to health.

The Corresponding Secretary was ordered to wire the resolution to Mrs. Jackson.

Mrs. S. E. Gabbett, Custodian of the Crosses of Honor, asked that she be allowed to postpone her report until to-morrow, which request was granted. She also asked, and was granted, the privilege of reading the following poem, which was very much enjoyed by the Convention:

CONFEDERATE CROSS OF HONOR.

As even a tiny shell recalls
The presence of the sea,
So, gazing on this cross of bronze,
The past recurs to me.

I see the Stars and Bars unfurled
And like a meteor rise,
To flash across a startled world,
A wonder in the skies.

I see the gathering of the hosts,
As like a flood they come;
I hear the shrieking of the fife,
The growling of the drum.

I see the tattered flag afloat
Above the flaming line;
Its ragged folds, to dying eyes,
A token and a sign.

I see the charging hosts advance,
I see the slow retreat;
I hear the shouts of victory,
The curses of defeat.

I see the grass of many fields,
With crimson life blood wet;
I see the dauntless eyes ablaze
Above the bayonet.

I hear the crashing of the shells
'Mid Chickamauga's pines;
I hear the shrill, defiant yells
Ring down the waiting lines.

I hear the voices of the dead,
Of comrade, tried and true;
I see the smiling lips of men
Who died for me and you.

And all the varied scenes of war
Upon my vision rise--
I hear the widow's piteous wail,
I hear the orphans' cries.

I see the Stars and Bars refurled,
Unstained, in Glory's hand,
And Peace, again, her wings unfold
Above a stricken land.

All this, and more, this magic cross
Recalls to heart and brain;
Beneath its mystic influence
The dead past lives again.

And friends who take a parting look
When I am laid to rest,
Will see, beside the cross of Christ,
This cross upon my breast.

HENRY LYNDEN FLASH.

Mrs. W. G. Moore, of Missouri, asked permission to present to the Convention a greeting from the Daughters of the Confederacy of Missouri. Objection was raised, as it was out of order. On motion of Mrs. R. C. Cooley, of Florida, the regular order of business was suspended, and Mrs. Moore was invited to present the greeting, which is as follows:

Madam President, and Daughters of the Confederacy:

I have come six hundred miles to bring you a message of love and greeting from a large body of Confederate women in a sister State—the Daughters of the Confederacy of Missouri. I thank you, in the name of our society, for the courtesy extended to me to-day. Perhaps many of the ladies here assembled have never heard of the Daughters of the Confederacy of Missouri, and I will ask your indulgence, Mrs. President, while I tell them something of our organization and our work.

In 1890 a society was organized in St. Louis, under the name of the "Daughters of the Confederacy"—the first society, so far as we have been able to learn, to bear that title. The object was to co-operate with the Confederate Veterans in their efforts to build a home for disabled Confederate soldiers. The enthusiasm spread, auxiliary societies were quickly organized throughout the State, and in about six years the Confederate women of our Commonwealth had raised and given to the veterans the sum of $38,000, our last work being to erect and equip a hospital. About that time it was deemed expedient to ask our Legislature for aid in the maintenance of the home; a bill was passed giving the necessary amount for its support, and our work in that direction was at an end. We began to look about us for other work to do. At Springfield a little band of faithful women had been quietly, but earnestly, at work for more than thirty years, collecting the scattered bodies of our nameless dead—gathering them together in one beautiful spot, and tenderly caring for their unmarked graves. Having been in communication with this and other societies, we organized ourselves into a benevolent, monumental, and historical society (incorporated under our State law), to be known as the "Daughters of the Confederacy of Missouri," and our first work to be the erection of a monument at Springfield (where already $12,000 had been expended upon the cemetery), to the memory of the Missouri Confederate soldiers. In this undertaking the veterans came to our aid, and I am happy to tell you that, in last August, we let the contract for our monument, to cost $12,000, and next August, on the anniversary of the battle of Wilson Creek, we will unveil it. What is more fitting than that the first monument in Missouri should be erected over the heroes who lost their lives at Wilson Creek, the most unique battle of the Civil War, perhaps, where a regiment of troops went into battle unarmed, depending upon taking their weapons from the killed and wounded of the enemy? Our organization now numbers 10 flourishing Chapters, with a membership of over 500, and energy and enthusiasm immeasurable.

Ladies, do you wonder that we love our organization, that we regard it with the greatest pride and affection, that we cling to it with all the tenacity of faith that only Southern hearts can feel, that its history and memories are dear to us, and that there is a sentiment as strong as life that binds us to it? That while the society of the United Daughters of the Confederacy is much to us, the society of the Daughters of the Confederacy of Missouri is unspeakably more? To-day, far away in our great State—where our rolling prairies and our wooded hills are already taking on the bleakness and desolation of winter, in our less friendly clime—there are hundreds of faithful, earnest, enthusiastic women, in whose hearts, though beating beneath wintry skies, a love for the South and its cause glows with the ardor and warmth of the sun in your own bright Southland.

Mrs. President, Daughters of the Confederacy, the Daughters of the Confederacy of Missouri have accredited me their messenger to reach out to you the right hand of fellowship and bid you Godspeed in your noble work.

Mrs. Josie Frazee Cappleman, of Mississippi, also presented greetings from the Daughters of the Confederacy of Mississippi, which follow:

Madam President, and United Daughters of the Confederacy:

This, the seventh year of my presidency of the Daughters of the Confederacy of Mississippi, finds that old and honored order still alive, but slowly, surely, silently fading away. Year after year this older order is merging into the methods of the new, and in a few more years the original Memorial Association, or Daughters of the Confederacy, will be but a sacred memory of the sad-eyed, solemn past; and this is as it should be.

In this Daughters of the Confederacy are many venerable and veritable mothers of the Confederacy, who saw the soul-rending scenes of which we only hear, and who, in those darksome days of breaking and broken hearts, were the founders of the Memorial Association of May 10, 1865; and now these longsuffering mothers cannot get their consent to change for the new their beloved order. But these dear, old, revered, tear-furrowed-cheeked mothers—some of whom are eighty years of age—are rapidly “crossing over the way,” and as they go, their daughters and granddaughters are gradually falling into the newer order of United Daughters of the Confederacy. Corinth, which was once a portion of this Daughters of the Confederacy district, has now organized quite a large and active Chapter of United Daughters of the Confederacy; New Albany, another part of the Daughters of the Confederacy district, has recently organized a very creditable Chapter of United Daughters of the Confederacy; and so on, from time to time, are the changes taking place.

The last grand rally of the Daughters of the Confederacy was made this year (June 9-12) at the N. B. Forrest Reunion, which was celebrated, one day each, at Corinth, Baldwin, Brice's Cross Roads, and Tupelo, these places being noted each for its bloody battle, in which the South's leader was that hero of cavalrymen, N. B. Forrest. These loyal ladies did honor to that great hero, whose very name is sacred to the Confederacy, and in doing honor to Gen. N. B. Forrest they did honor to themselves.

For some time it has been my earnest endeavor to have this large body of Daughters of the Confederacy united with the United Daughters of the Confederacy, and so each year finds fewer members of the old order and more of the new. With another year my second term as President of the Daughters of the Confederacy will expire, and with it, I believe, will end the order known as the "Daughters of the Confederacy of the Northeastern District of Mississippi;" for as the Old South passes away, one by one, her children—all unconsciously and by the very nature of things—fall into the ways of the New South, but still, to us, the Confederacy. Confederacy, sacred name, how I love to linger over each musical letter of that sweet word, which means the holiest of memories to every loyal Southern soul!—O, Daughters of the Confederacy, whether united or not united, let us be true, through all time, to our trust!

JOSIE FRAZEE CAPPLEMAN,
President Daughters of the Confederacy of Mississippi.

The Executive Committee had no report to submit.

The Finance Committee not being ready to report, its report was postponed until to-morrow.

All other reports were also postponed.

Mrs. C. B. Stone, of Texas, moved that the subject of late credentials be considered, and that they be received, which motion was adopted. The credentials were then referred to the Recording Secretary.

Mrs. S. T. McCullough asked permission to read the roll of the Davis Monument Committee, and requested them to meet her after adjournment in order that they might get their report ready for presentation to the Convention on to-morrow.

The Convention then adjourned until 9:30 A.M. to-morrow.

THIRD DAY.

FRIDAY, November 16, 1900.

The Convention was opened by reading from 1 Cor. 4 and prayer by Rev. Mr. McQueen.

The minutes of the previous morning session were read, and, after some minor corrections, were approved.

The minutes of the afternoon session were read and approved.

The greetings of the Convention were ordered sent to Mrs. Jefferson Davis on the return of her health.

Mrs. V. F. McSherry, of West Virginia, was granted the privilege of introducing to the Convention the wife of a Confederate soldier, Mrs. Rufus Barringer, who was invited to a seat on the rostrum.

On motion of Mrs. William Holland, of Tennessee, an hour for adjournment was fixed, and which had to be adhered to.

A call was made for a reading of the credential report by the Secretary.

A discussion arose over the vote of the Alabama Division, and Mrs. B. H. Craig, of Selma, moved that the credential report, submitted by the Secretary, Mrs. Hickman, should be adopted.

Mrs. Chappell Cory, of Montgomery, seconded the motion, and called for the previous question, although, she said, it would deprive her Chapter of one vote. As an Alabamian, she preferred losing a vote to having Alabama block the business of the Convention. The motion was then put and adopted.

Mrs. J. Pinckney Smith, of Louisiana, Chairman of the Auditing Committee, reported that the committee had examined the books of the Treasurer, and found them in good shape, and that the committee really had no report to make.

Mrs. S. T. McCullough, of Virginia, Chairman of the Davis Monument Committee, submitted the report of the committee, which is in the following words and figures:

REPORT OF THE JEFFERSON DAVIS MONUMENT COMMITTEE.

When the Grand Division of Virginia met in Richmond, in 1899, the President, Mrs. S. T. McCullough, was appointed to have the Jefferson Davis Monument transfer presented upon Friday, November —, and it was voted to undertake the work, should the United Daughters of the Confederacy decline the work. Deep in our hearts we felt assured the Daughters would not refuse so sacred a trust, accompanied by the pledge of the veterans to hold up our hands. On the day named Mr. J. Taylor Ellyson presented the case in all its details, and the United Daughters of the Confederacy received the funds and complete control of erecting a monument to President Davis.

Mrs. McKinnie's motion defined the members of a committee upon this work as the President of each State or a member appointed by the Executive Committee of each Division. Mr. Ellyson was chosen as one of the five members of the Advisory Board, and I was honored by being elected Chairman of the meeting and the committee, and it adjourned. I at once sent a letter to each member of the committee, inclosing a business statement from Mr. Ellyson. Before leaving Richmond, the Advisory Board was appointed, and Mrs. N. V. Randolph was made Chairman of the Central Committee, one of ways and means. She at once entered upon her duties and issued a circular letter. This was soon followed by one from the Treasurer, Mrs. E. D. Taylor. I sent forty copies of an appeal, followed by an appeal to the South, which I present to you now in person :

"JEFFERSON DAVIS MONUMENT ASSOCIATION,

"United Daughters of the Confederacy.

"When the United Daughters of the Confederacy received the work of the completion of the Jefferson Davis Monument from the United Confederate Veterans (with the donation of $20,600 already collected), perfect liberty was given in all the details, the only restriction being that the memorial should be placed in Richmond, where the cornerstone had been already laid. And what more perfect site could be chosen than a conspicuous one in the capital of the Confederacy?

"Each State sent a representative to a meeting for organization, with Mr. J. Taylor Ellyson, on behalf of the five gentlemen of the committee, and I had the honor of being chosen Chairman of the Executive Committee.

"Before leaving Richmond I sent a letter to each Division, inclosing a statement from Mr. Ellyson, and appointed Mrs. Norman V. Randolph Chairman of a Central Committee to raise and receive funds. She has not only organized, but accomplished much, since the machinery is running smoothly, and she attended the Louisville reunion on behalf of the cause.

"Now, as the presiding officer of the chosen committee, I make an appeal to the entire tier of Southern States, and beg each Camp of Veterans, each Chapter of Daughters, each Camp of Sons of Veterans, the Memorial Association, and every man, woman, and child, to make a contribution to the fund for the Jefferson Davis Monument.

"It will be your personal tribute to the cheerful, changeless, patient endurance of the South, embodied in the person of the only President of the Confederate States, who stood as the unified Confederacy to us. In honoring him we bear testimony to the rights of our defended liberty, the nobleness of our soldiers, the courage of our women, the heritage of these deeds to teach our children, and surely no one would be debarred from aiding in this glorious work. If love of home and family; if culture, dignity, and refinement; if the grace of "reviling not again," and the power of silence; if purity of Christian life are, each and all, admirable, surely they were shown by Jefferson Davis. He was a type of our best men, placed as our head of government, and a monument to him also includes a tribute to all we honored, loved—and will never forget—as 'The Southern Confederacy.'

"Give your offering, despising not the day of small gifts, to the member of the Executive Committee of your own State, or to the Treasurer of the Central Committee, or to me; but do not deprive yourself of the honor and glory of assisting to rear a monument to President Jefferson Davis, of the Confederate States of America.

"EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE JEFFERSON DAVIS MONUMENT.

"Mrs. E. G. Weed, President of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

"Mrs. S. Thomas McCullough, President of the Grand Division of Virginia, Staunton, Va., Chairman.

"Mrs. Charles G. Brown, Fountain Heights, Birmingham, Ala.

"Mrs. James R. Miller, 1520 Lincoln avenue, Little Rock, Ark.

"Mrs. Edward W. Ayres, 1104 New Hampshire avenue, Washington, D. C.

"Mrs. R. C. Cooley, 341 East Forsyth street, Jacksonville, Fla.

"Mrs. James A. Rounsaville, Rome, Ga.

"Mrs. Albert M. Harrison, 68 Elmtree Lane, Lexington, Ky.

"Mrs. R. E. Wilson, 718 Harrison street, Kansas City, Mo.

"Miss Mary Harrison, Columbus, Miss.

"Miss Virginia King, Harwood, Md.

"Mrs. W. W. Reade, 133 West Forty-fourth street, New York City, N. Y.

"Mrs. John P. Allison, Concord, N. C.

"Mrs. Augustine P. Smythe, Charleston, S. C.

"Mrs. J. T. Latham, Memphis, Tenn.

"Mrs. M. R. M. Rosenberg, 1306 Market street, Galveston, Texas.

"California—Not appointed.

"Mrs. James Y. Leigh, 78 York street, Norfolk, Va., President Virginia Division.

"Mrs. William W. Arnett, 67 Fourteenth street, Wheeling, W. Va.

"Mrs. J. Pinckney Smith, New Orleans.

"ADVISORY BOARD.

"Mr. J. Taylor Ellyson, Richmond, Va.

"Mr. George L. Christian, Richmond, Va.

"Mr. W. D. Chesterman, Richmond, Va.

"Mr. D. C. Richardson, Richmond, Va.

"Mr. J. C. Dickerson, Richmond, Va.

"Mr. John T. Ellett (bonded), Treasurer, Richmond, Va.

"CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

"Mrs. Norman V. Randolph, Chairman, Richmond, Va.

"Mrs. Edgar D. Taylor, Treasurer, 3 East Franklin street, Richmond, Va.

"Mrs. B. A. Blenner, 307 North Twelfth street, Richmond, Va.

"Send all contributions through your State officials, who will forward to the Treasurer of the Central Committee, Mrs. Edgar D. Taylor, 3 East Franklin street, Richmond, Va. Thus your States will have credit for all money collected."

A thousand copies were printed, and our General Secretary, Miss Meares, helpfully issued them for the committee.

Florida, South Carolina, and Texas were the first to send me their State appeals, but all the members have served and are now selling the Confederate Calendar, prepared by Mrs. W. R. Vawter and her committee in Richmond for the Davis Monument Fund.

In Missouri the members of the M. A. E. McClure Chapter have pledged to give $2 each to the fund, North Carolina has nearly $1,000 ready to present, and South Carolina has $900. I give these items, as they will not appear in the Treasurer's report. New York has five hundred letters abroad, from which she hopes for large returns.

At the request of the Central Committee I will add an associate committee of the Southern Confederated Memorial Associations, as they are now coöperating with us most successfully. The members of this committee will be appointed by Mrs. William J. Behan, President.

I present my report in three sections: My own, as an historical one of data and connection; then Mrs. Randolph's, as due her tireless energy, unflinching resource, and generous, loyal support. I also desire you should hear Mrs. Edgar D. Taylor, not only because she is winning and fair, but because she possesses the clear head and pays the strict attention to detail so useful in financial affairs.

I want to thank the Advisory Board for aid and advice, and we are all indebted to our bonded Treasurer, Mr. John T. Ellett, for his careful diligence and unrewarded labors. To our President I am much indebted in her powerful appeals in public meeting.

I would conclude by asking each member of our large and able body to work early and late for the Davis Monument Fund. As a dear Maryland Chapter said, in sending a donation, with loving good wishes: "There can be no monument too grand for the President of the Confederacy."

NELLIE HOTCHKISS M'CULLOUGH

((Mrs. S. Thomas McCullough),

Chairman Executive Committee, Jefferson Davis Monument.

Upon finishing the reading of the report, Mrs. F. H. Elmore, of Montgomery, offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Alabama moves that Mrs. McCullough's report represents the grandest work of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, and that the Convention give her a rising vote of thanks for her able report and the perfect manner in which she has managed all the details of her work during the past year.

On motion of Mrs. M. D. Bibb, of Montgomery, Mrs. J. W. Behan, of New Orleans, President of the Confederate Memorial Associations, was invited to a seat on the platform.

Mrs. E. D. Taylor, of Richmond, Treasurer of the Central Committee of the Davis Monument Fund, submitted her report, which is as follows:

RICHMOND, VA., November 8, 1900.

MRS. EDGAR D. TAYLOR,
Treasurer Central Committee U. D. C.,
Richmond, Va. :

MY DEAR MADAM—I have the honor to hand you herewith my report as Bonded Treasurer of the Jefferson Davis Monument Association, showing my receipts and disbursements since Jan. 1, 1900, to this date. You will observe, by carefully reading the same, that there have been no disbursements at all, which shows a very careful and economical management of this trust by the ladies in control.

I most heartily congratulate you, and feel that it is but a mere question of time when the purpose you have in view shall have been accomplished.

Yours very respectfully,

JOHN S. ELLETT, Treasurer.

REPORT OF MR. JNO. S. ELLETT, BONDED TREASURER JEFFERSON DAVIS MONUMENT ASSOCIATION, TO MRS. E. D. TAYLOR, TREASURER CENTRAL COMMITTEE U. D. C., FROM JAN. 1, 1900, TO NOV. 8, 1900.

Respectfully submitted,

JNO. S. ELLETT, Treasurer.

Mrs. N. V. Randolph, of Richmond, Chairman of the Central Committee of the Davis Monument Association, next made her report, which is as follows:

Madam President, and Members of the Executive Board, Daughters of the Confederacy:

My report as Chairman of the Central Committee is before you. After the meeting of the United Daughters of the Convention in Richmond I had the honor to be appointed by Mrs. S. Thomas McCullough (Chairman of the Executive Committee) Chairman of the Central Committee of the Jefferson Davis Monument Fund, and empowered to appoint a Treasurer and Secretary, and to enlarge my committee as I deemed advisable. I tried very hard to get to work at once, but could do nothing until the funds could be turned over into our hands, the Legislature having to grant this. We retained Mr. John T. Ellett, as bonded Treasurer; Mrs. Edgar D. Taylor, Treasurer; Mrs. B. A. Blenner, Secretary; and as soon as a bill for transmission of funds was filed, I went to work. This was in February. The first circulars were sent out at that time to each of the Executive Committees, who, in turn, sent them to the Chapters of their State. These circulars were also sent to veterans. Again, when the General Orders were issued by the United Confederate Veterans, I sent circulars to General Gordon, who kindly inclosed them with these General Orders; thus one appeal must have reached every Confederate organization. The second appeal was sent to the city papers throughout the South, asking that they publish them.

When the Reunion of the United Confederate Veterans was held in Louisville, I went in person to appeal to the veterans, and we had pledged thereby nearly $10,000. I say "nearly," because the pledge cards I had were never distributed. Some, who we thought pledged $100, when appealed to said it was $10; others, such as the contribution from the Confederate Memorial Association, of New Orleans, of $300, and Mrs. W. I. Behan, $100, were not counted in. The Treasurer will give exact amount in her report.

At Louisville I appealed to the Confederate Southern Memorial Association, then in session—that body of women who had built monuments and homes before our organization was ever heard of—to assist us in the erection of the Davis Monument. With patriotic zeal they accepted, and at once pledged $300.

I have myself written over 1,000 letters and postal cards. My Secretary has written several hundred more. Miss Meares, Corresponding Secretary, sent out, at my request, 1,000 circulars from Mrs. S. Thomas McCullough, as her appeal did not come under the head of Central Committee work, but United Daughters of the Confederacy work.

I had presented by the Bar Association of Richmond 1,000 copies of "The Trial and Trials of Jefferson Davis." This is no pathetic story, but the most pathetic history ever written. Many of these I have distributed. They are more appealing than anything I could write, and if any one who read them could help giving to a monument to perpetuate the name of Jefferson Davis, they cannot call themselves lovers of the Southern Confederacy.

The Evening Leader, of Richmond, offered their columns to us to get up a 10-cent popular subscription, a badge or button given to every one sending in their name and 10 cents, and a beautiful gold medal offered to the child sending in the greatest number of names. This offer was sent to each of the Executive Committees. Texas and Virginia have alone responded. The Central Committee will be glad to make this offer to any other State who will undertake it.

In concluding my report I beg that every individual member consider herself a committee of one to collect funds. Do not say your treasury is empty, do not take it out of the little you have. Make it your business to give every one the privilege of giving, no matter if it is 10 cents; but do not ask one, who can give $10, to give 10 cents, and remember the women of the South never have failed when the honor of the Southern Confederacy was at stake.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. N. V. RANDOLPH,
Chairman Central Committee.

Mrs. J. W. Tench, of Florida, moved that the Convention pledge to the Central Committee of the Jefferson Davis Monument the sum of $500, to be placed in the hands of Mrs. E. D. Taylor, Treasurer, as soon as the dues are collected by the Treasurer of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, as their contribution for 1901.

This motion brought on some discussion, and it was moved that the date of payment be fixed for May 1, 1901.

The hour having arrived when the Convention was to receive Gen. William C. Oates, of Montgomery, the regular business was suspended.

Mr. Hood, of Montgomery, introduced General Oates to the Convention. General Oates, in behalf of the Ladies' Montgomery Memorial Association, submitted to the Convention a book written by Mrs. M. I. P. Ockenden, of Montgomery, to be sold for the benefit of the Confederate Monument at Chickamauga. General Oates spoke beautifully and eloquently of the scenes depicted by Mrs. Ockenden in her book, and dwelt in a lucid manner upon the valor and bearing of our noble soldiers on that historic battlefield.

A number of delegates moved that the thanks of the Convention be extended to General Oates for the glowing tribute he paid the memory of those who fought and fell in defense of the Southland. General Oates was also the recipient of many mementoes representing the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

General Oates having retired, the Convention then stood adjourned.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Convention was called to order by the President at 3 P.M.

Mrs. Josie Frazee Cappleman, of Mississippi, offered to donate one-fourth of the proceeds of the sale of her book, "Heart Songs," to the Davis Monument Fund when sold to members of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The White House Association donated $25 to the fund.

Mrs. Cantrill, of Kentucky, offered, for Mrs. Sophie Fox Sea, of Albert Sidney Johnston Chapter, of Louisville, the net proceeds of as many copies of "Requiem Bells" as the Association would dispose of.

On motion, the thanks of the Convention were extended to these ladies for their donations.

Mrs. John W. Tench, of Florida, offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

That the United Daughters of the Confederacy donate $500 additional as its 1901 contribution, to be paid to the Central Committee of the Jefferson Davis Monument Fund on May 1, 1901.

Miss Florence Barlow, of the Lost Cause, offered a page in her paper to be devoted to the Davis Monument Fund, and also pledged to sell one hundred copies of the calendar.

Mrs. S. E. Gabbett, Custodian of the Cross of Honor, submitted her report; but, before commencing, she introduced Mrs. Irwin, of Georgia, daughter of Hon. Howell Cobb, and who was the originator of the idea of the Cross of Honor. Mrs. Irwin was invited to a seat on the platform. Mrs. Gabbett's report follows:

Madam President, and Daughters of the Confederacy:

The patriotic plan for the presentation of the Southern Cross of the Legion of Honor to the veterans of the Confederate Army has met with phenomenal success. Within one month and ten days every cross of the first issue had been delivered and a very large number of orders were left on hand. By the direction of your First Vice President, acting in the absence of your President, I ordered a second issue. I am confident that had I not notified the Daughters by the public press and letter that the first issue was exhausted, I would have been able to report the second issue as also fully taken up by orders. As it is, the new issue arrived on October 20, and in half an hour's time I was hard at work packing and filling orders. There is nothing succeeds like success. From that first half hour I have been busy filling orders left on hand and those arriving every day. Since I have arrived in Montgomery several hundred crosses have been ordered, and I doubt not but the second issue will be as much appreciated as the first.

I have also much pleasure in reporting the enthusiasm with which the veterans have received this public acknowledgment of their loyal service. The surest proof of this appreciation is given by their earnest efforts to defend the cross, to guard it from unfaithful hands. Several of the camps have passed very stringent rules for that purpose, and the veterans of Georgia, at their reunion in Savannah, memorialized the Legislature to make the wearing of this decoration by any unauthorized person a penal offense; also many dying men earnestly desire to receive this, so slight a testimony to their life sacrifice. The dying do not dissimulate or pretend. Immediately on my return to Atlanta I was requested by the officers of a camp to give the cross to a veteran who was dying. His record was glorious, the bravest of the brave. He had served in the Mexican War; was wounded three times in the war between the States; was taken prisoner by the Federals, moved from prison to prison while in this wounded condition, and was last taken to Johnston Island. I went to his room and found him lying ghastly pale, but resting after a night of agony. After sitting by him and listening to his wife's account of his many battles, I arose and said: "The Daughters of the Confederacy send you this Cross of Honor." "Where is my coat?" he cried. "Never mind the coat," I said; "just let me pin it on your shirt." "But this is my nightshirt." "That makes no difference," I repeated; "let me give you the cross, let me pin it on your breast." As I stooped over him the color rushed to his face and tears fell from his eyes. I hastened away, too much moved to speak. This is the only cross which I have given.

At the Convention in Richmond the committee which had been appointed at the Convention of Hot Springs, Ark., offered the design for the Cross of Honor, which had been submitted by Mr. Charles Crankshaw, of Atlanta, Ga. This design was accepted by the Convention, and I was appointed Custodian and authorized to draw on the Treasurer of the United Daughters of the Confederacy for $225, and to order the first issue of crosses, the price asked by Mr. Crankshaw being 9 cents each. So that you may understand the position, I pray you to pay particular attention to the dates I shall now give:

On February 3 Miss Rutherford and myself met at the house of Mrs. Plane for the purpose of considering the rules and regulations appertaining to the delivery of the crosses. You will remember that the committee appointed at the Hot Springs Convention for the purpose of getting up designs was composed of Mrs. Erwin, Mrs. Plane, and myself (as chairman). Mrs. Erwin, for private reasons, asked that Miss Rutherford should be appointed in her place. I was of the opinion that when the committee had discharged its duties of obtaining, selecting, and presenting the design for the badge of honor, the members dissolved, their duties having terminated. But I was only too happy to seek the advice and support of my former coadjutors. Both Miss Rutherford and Mrs. Plane considered themselves a committee, and so acted bona fide, drawing up rules and regulations, also the certificates for the Presidents; and by their advice I requested an eminent jurist, an ex-Confederate officer, to draw up the application papers for the veterans. I was urged by Miss Rutherford and Mrs. Plane to have these papers immediately submitted to our President for her signature and that she might direct our Recording Secretary, Mrs. Hickman, to have them printed and issued to the various Presidents of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

You will note that these rules and regulations and certificates were drawn up by Miss Rutherford and Mrs. Plane as an acting committee. I afterwards consulted my lawyer, who informed me there was no committee, the duties of the committee having terminated at the last Convention; but as I had consented to receive these rules and regulations, as they were authorized by the President and issued by my consent, I was bound by them—all the Presidents who had applied for the crosses were bound by them. In the haste a slight mistake was made, directing the application for certificates to be sent to the Custodian, while the direction should have been to Mrs. Hickman. But this was immediately rectified.

Immediately after I was appointed Custodian I directed Mr. Crankshaw to apply for a copyright, but was repeatedly refused, until I sought the aid of a Georgia member of the House of Congress, who was in Washington at the time. The patent was not secured until February 20. I at once ordered the die cut and the crosses manufactured. On April 17 I received a telegram, stating that they were ready, and on April 20 the filling of orders commenced. On May 30 all had been delivered.

Ladies, I cannot attempt to describe to you the strain of anxiety I suffered—actually, it amounted to agony. The rules had designated April 20 as one of the days for delivery, and orders came rushing in before I really knew whether the crosses could be ready or not. When they were ready, Mr. Crankshaw and his brother kindly came to my assistance. Both gentlemen and a servant were engaged whole days packing and expressing. The pretty little boxes, numbered, were complimentary from Mr. Crankshaw.

At the time I was seriously ill, in addition to suffering great depression from a sad affliction in my family. On account of my condition my physician ordered me to California. I was compelled to leave Atlanta before the patent could be secured, but I can truly say that the happiest telegrams of my life were those of February 20, "Copyright secured;" April 17, "Issue of crosses ready;" May 30, "Supply of crosses exhausted."

By the instruction of your Vice President I ordered a fresh issue of crosses, and tender to you Mr. Crankshaw's receipts for $225 for the first issue and $225 for the second issue.

In the meantime, I received avalanches of letters every day. These letters were from every direction, all sources, the following being a fair sample: "We are so anxious. Do tell us how to proceed; the poor old veterans are so anxious." These words drove me all day, haunted me all night, and will be found indelibly impressed on my brain. And they were not from Presidents and Secretaries alone, but from commanders of camps, veterans, men, and women—from all parts of the United States, from New York to California. It was in vain that I sent out stacks of the rules and regulations and letters of explanations. I was asked to "explain" my "explanations."

I am happy to say the subject of "The Cross of the Legion of Honor" has been warmly taken up in Los Angeles, Cal., the Chapter knowing nothing of the work until I went out—one good effect of my unexpected absence from Georgia. I had the pleasure of visiting Col. Henry Keller, a personal friend of President Jefferson Davis and of his family; a member of Stonewall Jackson's battalion when our beloved general died; and he holds a furlough from Robert E. Lee. I requested the Daughters to permit me to send to him a Cross of Honor in the name of the General Convention. Another very touching incident occurred during the presentation of the crosses—the first in California, given by the Robert E. Lee Chapter. A veteran had died the day before. I was asked if the cross could be laid upon his breast, as he had earnestly entreated. I found his papers correct; his record, that of a brave soldier, worthy of all honor; so when his name was called in the list to receive the cross, I rose and asked that the cross might be placed upon his breast as he lay in his coffin. The Daughters accompanied the cortégé to the grave, assisting in giving to him the last honors. The poem which I read to you last night was written on this occasion. The copy was kindly given to me by the Treasurer. I regard it as a treasure.

An increase in the number of Chapters is greatly needed. In far-off places there are organized camps, but no Chapters; so there arises a great difficulty as to how crosses can be given them. I have a large number of letters appealing to me for advice as to how these camps can obtain their decorations; I am also asked to inaugurate Chapters. Again, there are large numbers of veterans scattered about the States who greatly need the help the Daughters can give them, if only in sympathy and recognition of their faithful service.

Another matter has troubled me greatly: the fear that in the haste to give the crosses, in the delight of giving pleasure, Presidents, as well as commanders of camps, may accept application papers and give the crosses without sufficient care being taken to prove the entire worthiness of the recipient. I have had the pain of canceling several certificates. Therefore, I recommend the strictest scrutiny on the part of the Presidents. Do not entirely rely on the camps, while the camps should be made to feel their great responsibility. A member of the Legion of Honor should live at present the life worthy of his past.

The rules and regulations require revision. I think the Presidents should be allowed more discretion as to the time when the crosses can be delivered; but the occasion should be kept solemnly—not at picnic parties or social reunions.

Another very important question is: When can descendants receive the honor belonging to a deceased father, a veteran? I have been greatly distressed by being compelled to reject application papers of this kind, besides receiving many letters of remonstrance.

Again, as to the rules and regulations, they should be settled definitely, and then must be maintained. I have really found it impossible in the past to enforce them. They should not be too rigid, or savoring too much of "red tapeism," while they must be comprehensive.

Another question is: Who shall give the crosses where there are no Chapters? For all these matters there is a call for a committee. I therefore, Madam President and Daughters, strongly advise that a committee be appointed to arrange these points, and then a standing committee of the President and Vice President, to whom the Custodian can apply in matters of doubt.

MRS. S. E. GABBETT,

Custodian of the Cross of the Legion of Honor.

The Custodian then tendered her list of orders and accounts.

Mrs. Gabbett's report was indorsed, and she was given a rising vote of thanks for the manner in which she had performed her arduous duties.

Mrs. C. Helen Plane and Miss Mildred Rutherford, both of Georgia and both on the Committee of Cross of Honor, were also given votes of thanks.

Mrs. Plane arose to a point of order as to why the work had been left to Mrs. Gabbett alone.

Mrs. Gabbett recommended the appointment of a committee for the purpose of revising the rules and regulations and of making such rules as might be found necessary, which would henceforth be strictly followed.

After explanations by Mrs. Rounsaville and Miss Rutherford, both of Georgia, the matter was settled; whereupon Mrs. Plane and Miss Rutherford submitted their reports as the Advisory Board of the Southern Cross Committee, and asked that the committee be enlarged.

A very animated discussion followed as to the distribution and certificates of eligibility for the Cross of Honor and as to the letters "U. C. V." being stamped on the back.

Mrs. Plane held that the badge was intended for every Confederate soldier, and not alone for those who are members of the United Confederate Veterans.

Mrs. Gabbett held that if the lettering be changed, the patent would be infringed upon.

On motion of Mrs. Cantrill, of Kentucky, the committee was to be continued and enlarged at the pleasure and discretion of the committee and the President.

Mrs. Potts, of Kentucky, asked that Miss Florence Barlow be permitted to extend the greetings of Gen. Biscoe Hindman, Commander of the Sons of Confederate Veterans. The greetings are as follows:

To the United Daughters of the Confederacy—Greeting:

On behalf of the United Sons of Confederate Veterans, the Commanding General sends you greeting and congratulates you upon holding your seventh annual meeting among the brave and hospitable people of Montgomery, the first capital of the Confederacy—with its historic hall, where the first Confederate Congress held its sessions, and with its Exchange Hotel, made memorable by the presence of distinguished statesmen and soldiers; and there, also, is the White House of the Confederacy, where President Jefferson Davis made his first official home, and where we hope that the Daughters of the Confederacy, when received within its walls, may gather new inspiration and greater strength to enable them to carry to a complete success that object so dear to their hearts, the rearing of a fitting monument to the South's beloved President.

Among these people you will feel at home, for you know full well that you have their highest admiration and their tenderest love. They honor you for your grand work in the past and for your splendid devotion to the objects of your noble order, and they will be glad that you are among them; nor will they ever forget that many of your members were among the brave girls that our soldiers left behind them when they marched off to war, and that while they were fighting the battles of their country these girls and their mothers were knitting and sewing and praying for them every day and every hour throughout the four long years of terrible conflict. It is to these noble and unselfish Spartan women that the Sons of Confederate Veterans propose to erect a memorial as a perpetual evidence of that debt of gratitude and affection which can never be fully repaid.

With the love and patriotism and influence of such women the Confederate soldier was encouraged and stirred to deeds of valor which have seldom been equaled, and never surpassed, in the history of the world.

Very sincerely yours,

BISCOE HINDMAN,

Commander in Chief, United Sons of Confederate Veterans.
Louisville, Ky.

The greetings were received with applause and approbation, and Miss Barlow was requested to extend to General Hindman the high appreciation of the Convention.

Mrs. W. C. N. Merchant, of Virginia, spoke upon the subject of the Woman's Monument which the Veterans propose to build to the women of the Confederacy.

Mrs. Weed reminded the Convention of the fact that the Daughters of the Confederacy refused to accept this monument.

Mrs. Merchant offered the following resolution, which had been indorsed by the Rawley Martin Chapter, of Chatham, Va.:

That in the event the Confederate Veterans and Sons of Veterans have fully determined to erect a memorial to the women of the Confederacy, it be not of bronze or marble, but take a form which will benefit the living.

Mrs. Cone Johnson, of Texas, in most beautiful terms, told of the kind offer of the William P. Rogers Chapter, of Victoria, Texas, to educate some boy or girl who had been left destitute by the recent flood in Texas.

Miss Barlow, of the Lost Cause, stated that she owned a scholarship in the Central University at Richmond, Ky., and would donate it to the work undertaken by the William P. Rogers Chapter.

Mrs. Cone Johnson, in the name of Texas, thanked Miss Barlow for her kind and liberal offer.

It was announced that Rev. A. J. Lamar, pastor of the Court Street Methodist Church and a Confederate Veteran, was present; and Mrs. Erwin, of Georgia, in behalf of the Cradle of the Confederacy Chapter, of Montgomery, would present him with the Cross of Honor, which she did in a few appropriate words, saying: "He is my mother's only nephew."

Rev. Mr. Lamar, on receiving the Cross, said: "I have the distinction of being the only surviving private Confederate soldier."

Mrs. Thomas, the Treasurer, not being in the hall when the Auditing Committee made its report, stated that there was on hand $1,782.57; that after drawing the check for $500 for the Galveston sufferers and a few small outstanding accounts, there would still be sufficient in the treasury to meet the appropriation of 1901.

Mrs. Cantrill, of Kentucky, Chairman of the Motto Committee, submitted the report of the committee, which follows:

I have no extended report to submit, not having had a meeting of the committee. I have written to each State for mottoes, but very few have responded. The mottoes submitted are:

"Lord God of hosts, be with us yet—
Lest we forget, lest we forget."

"With God, everything; Without God, nothing."

- "Superior in adversity, equal to prosperity."
- "In perpetual remembrance."
- "Sound in faith, charity, and patience."
- "The series of ages begins anew."
- "Glory sits beside our grief."
- "Hail to the conqueror."
- "Difficulty is opportunity."

I would suggest that the committee be enlarged, and would urge on each State the importance of sending me mottoes of its selection by our next annual Convention, at which time the committee hopes to submit a full report.

Very respectfully,

MARY CECIL CANTRILL,
Chairman.

The selection of a motto was postponed until the next meeting, and Mrs. Cantrill was given a rising vote of thanks for the efficient work she had done. She asked that each State should submit to the committee a motto, and that the committee be enlarged.

Mrs. J. D. Beale, of Alabama, moved that, if possible to do so, the committee be instructed to select a motto from one of our Southern poets—Henry Tinrod, Paul Hayne, Sidney Lanier, or Father Ryan. The motion was lost.

Mrs. Cantrill offered the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the United Daughters of the Confederacy shall adopt a suitable emblem, which shall be worn, whenever possible, on official occasions, with the badge of the Association.

Resolved, that each State shall likewise adopt some appropriate floral emblem to be worn.

These resolutions were referred to the Committee on Mottoes, the committee to be called henceforth the Committee on Mottoes and Emblems."

Miss Meares, of North Carolina, moved that the present committee be retained, and that the mottoes submitted be laid before the Chapters by their delegates.

Mrs. Behan, of New Orleans, moved that the States that had not sent in mottoes be urged to do so in time to be acted on by the next Convention.

Mrs. Randolph, of Virginia, displayed to the Convention a gold badge, which the Central Committee of the Davis Monument fund offered to the Confederate Memorial Associations, to be presented to the child who would send in the greatest number of 10-cent subscriptions to the fund.

Mrs. Scott, of Virginia, pledged $25 from the Kirkwood Otey Chapter, of Lynchburg.

Mrs. Roach, of Indiana, pledged $40 for the Fitzhugh Lee Chapter, of Evansville.

The Convention then adjourned until 8 P.M.

EVENING SESSION.

Mrs. J. A. Alexander, of Alexandria, Va., spoke of the cemetery at Bull Run, where five hundred Confederate soldiers were buried. She said that these dead belonged to every Confederate State, and asked for contributions in behalf of the cemetery in putting up headstones, etc.

State Divisions and Chapters responded liberally to Mrs. Alexander's appeal, the contributions amounting to $325.

Mrs. T. J. Latham, of Memphis, Tenn., appealed to the Convention for contributions to the monument to be erected to Gen. N. B. Forrest. Her patriotic talk was received with enthusiasm, and contributions from State Divisions, Chapters, and individuals amounted to $350.

On motion of Mrs. Randolph, of Virginia, the Convention also contributed $150 to the Forrest monument.

Mrs. Hal. W. Greer, of Beaumont, Texas, read a splendid historical paper on the battle of Sabine Pass. The Convention returned thanks for the paper and ordered it printed in the Minutes. Mrs. Greer's paper was as follows:

In this paper I write little else save the bare facts, thinking my time would be limited, but there is much more that could be written which I feel sure would interest you, and in the beginning I wish to state that most of the data in this paper were given to me by Mrs. Margaret L. Watson, President of the Dick Dowling Chapter, of Beaumont, Texas. Mrs Watson received it direct from two old Confederate veterans who participated in the battle; so the authenticity of the facts cannot be doubted.

The most remarkable, and, so far as the writer is informed, unrecorded, battle of the war between the States was fought at Sabine Pass, Texas, September 8, 1863.

Those who took part in the battle called themselves the "Davis Guards." The company was organized at Camp Kyle, near Harrisburg, Texas, with Captain F. H. Odium in command. They were mustered into service at Galveston by Brig. Gen. P. O. Hebert, in August, 1861. They took the name of the "Davis Guards" in honor of Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederate States.

To gain an accurate knowledge of how the result of this battle was accomplished, it is necessary to briefly describe the general topography of the country and streams. The stream of Sabine Pass flows from Sabine Lake into the Gulf of Mexico. It is about seven miles long, slightly less than one mile wide, and ranges in depth from twenty feet to forty feet. At the time, a bar had formed at the gulf end, and the channel over it was only about ten feet deep, and very tortuous and difficult to navigate. The stream forms a dividing line between Texas and Louisiana, and was once the boundary between the United States and Mexico. Its banks are very low—at the highest places on the Texas side not extending over three feet above low tide, while the Louisiana side is much lower, is an extensive marsh, and is inundated whenever the tide comes in above normal. All the surrounding country is a low marsh, except where the town is located, on a ridge about three feet above low tide.

The town is situated on the west, or Texas, side, about five miles from the gulf end of the stream. On the Texas bank the Confederates had erected a mud fort about one mile from the gulf. This fort was manned by forty-two men, all told, under the command of Lieut. Richard (commonly known as "Dick") W. Dowling. He was born in Galway, Ireland, and came to America when a child with his parents, who settled in New Orleans, La. He was, at the time of this battle, very young, but he was a brave soldier, and fully competent to do the work which fate had destined for him.

On September 7, the night previous to the battle, the Federal fleet began arriving from New Orleans. When daylight came the Confederates viewed with consternation the formidable sight. They had not one charge of ammunition or even a handbar with which to throw the guns around on their travers bars, inside the fort. Captain Odium sent immediately to the town of Sabine for ammunition, and soon the little company of men set to work with great energy to prepare for the battle which they knew was imminent.

General Magruder, who had been informed of the enemy's approach, sent word to Captain Odium to spike the guns, blow up the fort, and retreat to Taylor's bayou, and there to try to hold the enemy in check. When these orders were made known to Lieutenant Dowling—Captain Odium being in command of the post in the town of Sabine, in place of Colonel Griffin, who had charge of the post, but who had gone to Houston to attend a court-martial—asked his men if they wished to do this. They replied: "No; we prefer to fight while there is a detachment to man the guns." About this time the Federals began firing. The guns in the fort consisted of two 32-pounders, two 24-pounders, and two brass mountain howitzers. The 32-pounders, it will here be remarked, were some old guns which the Federals had damaged by spiking and cutting of the trunnions. They were taken to Houston and repaired by the Confederates. These guns proved the most effective in battle of any which were fired, as they crippled the gunboats Sachem, Clifton, and Arizona." A part of the old gunboat Clifton is still visible at Sabine Pass.

The attack from the gunboats continued, the ground around the fort being torn up; still, there was no return of fire from Dowling, he withholding and waiting until the vessels came within easy range to fire his first shot. Meantime he spoke with words of courage and good cheer to his men, urging upon them the necessity of making every fire from their guns damage the enemy, and to use their ammunition with the greatest economy. He did not allow his men to put their heads above the parapet, and the Federals had about come to the conclusion that there was no one in the fort and they had wasted their ammunition. They came nearer and nearer, and when at a point where Dowling, who had been keeping a close watch, knew the shots could take effect, ordered the men to their places, and gave the command: "Fire!"

Just here is where Dowling evinced his fine judgment of warfare. The shots poured into the gunboats, and soon the Sachem and Clif on were at the mercy of the Confederates, while the Arizona backed and turned seaward, but was crippled in the hull. She managed to get out to sea, where she sunk that night with all on board. It is estimated there were at least two hundred and fifty men lost, and many bodies were found on the shores of Louisiana and Texas.

After just thirty-eight minutes from the time Dowling ordered his men to fire the first shot the white flag was seen to go up on the flag-ship, Clifton. Lieutenant Dowling went aboard, accompanied by Dr. George H. Bailey, as a signal for a surgeon had been given by the enemy. Commodore Crocker met them and surrendered his sword to Dowling. Dr. Bailey administered to the wounded and dying. Later Commodore Crocker came ashore and entered the fort. Imagine his surprise when he realized that there were only forty-two men in the fort. The Confederates took as prisoners 490 men, seventy-two of whom were badly wounded. The exact number of killed is not known, these as contradistinguished from those who were drowned by the sinking of the Arizona, but has been estimated at fifty, most of whom were scalded to death by the explosion of the boiler on the gunboat Sachem when the shot struck it. Not a man on the Confederate side received a scratch, and beyond slight injuries to the walls of the little mud fort and one gun carriage no damage was done.

The prisoners, who numbered four hundred and ninety, were kept under guns until relief came by steamers from Orange and Beaumont.

Commodore Leon Smith makes honorable mention of Captain Odium, Lieutenant Dowling, Lieutenant Smith, and Captain Cook, who came down with the Uncle Ben, a Confederate transport. He also makes mention of another Lieutenant Smith, of Company B, Spaight's battalion, and Lieutenant Harrison, of Captain Daly's company.

Dr. George H. Bailey, who is living out in California, volunteered his services and was in the fort during the battle, but as no one required his attention as a surgeon, he assisted in firing the guns, and valuable assistance he rendered, too. General Magruder presented him with a sword which was taken from one of the prisoners.

Mr. Jefferson Davis, in his book on the "Rise and Fall of the Confederacy," says: "There is no parallel in ancient or modern warfare to that of Dowling and his men at Sabine Pass, considering the great odds against which they had to contend." The Congress of the Confederate States also passed the following resolutions:

"Resolved, That the thanks of Congress are due and are hereby cordially given to Captain Odium, Lieutenant Dowling, and his forty-two men—comprising the Davis Guards—under their command, for their daring, gallant, and successful defense of Sabine Pass against the attack made by the enemy on September 8, 1863, with a fleet of five gunboats and twenty-one steam transports, carrying a land force of fifteen thousand men.

"Resolved, That the defense resulting under the providence of God in the defeat of the enemy, the capture of two gunboats, with four hundred and ninety prisoners—including the commander of the fleet, Frederick Crocker—crippling the gunboats, the dispersion of the transports, and preventing the invasion of Texas, constitutes, in the opinion of Congress, one of the most heroic and brilliant achievements in the history of this war, and entitles the Davis Guards to the gratitude and admiration of their country.

"Resolved, That the President be requested to communicate the foregoing resolutions to Captain Odium, Lieutenant Dowling, and the men under their command.

"Approved February 8, 1864."

All the men composing the Davis Guards were from Ireland, except two, who were born in the United States, and one German. These Irishmen did a brave part by their country of adoption, and well deserve the tribute paid them by the Confederate citizens eulogizing their courageous patriotism. The rations of the Davis Guards consisted of what the good citizens of the vicinity gave them. Mrs. Kate Dorman, a most patriotic Southern woman and a native of Georgia, herself cooked beef and sent it to them, along with the message: "They must not fight like men, but fight like devils." During the time of the battle she watched its progress through a field glass, while her friend, Mrs. Sarah Vasburg, who was a praying woman, stood beside her with uplifted hand, asking God to direct the shots.

Mr. Sam Watson, of Beaumont, was placed as first engineer on the captured gunboat Sachem, which boat kept its name when in possession of the Confederates. Mrs. Margaret Watson made the first Confederate flag which was put upon her.

The attacking Federals, under the command of Captain Frederick Crocker, had nineteen well-equipped gunboats, three steamships, and three sloops of war. It is presumed the steamships and sloops were transports, as they took no part in the engagement. What the Federal design was in its attack at Sabine Pass is mere conjecture, as the departments at Washington have never revealed it, but there is reason to believe that their intention was to invade Texas, Arkansas, and North Louisiana. A plan had been laid by General Banks, somewhat to this effect, and judging from the amount of troops, fifteen thousand, it is supposed this was the time the scheme was to be accomplished.

When we remember that only forty-two brave men foiled him, too much honor cannot be paid to their memory, and we, the United Daughters of the Confederacy of Beaumont, have named our Chapter for their leader, Lieutenant Dowling. There are only two survivors of this wonderful battle, but there are many citizens who remember all the incidents perfectly.

Beaumont, Texas.

MRS. HAL W. GREER,

Historian of Dick Dowling Chapter.

On motion, a telegram of greeting was sent to Mrs. Katie Cabell Currie, a former President of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Mrs. Rounsaville, of Georgia, offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

In the interest of history and for the benefit of those members not conversant with the circumstances attending upon the inception of this Association; also, in order that full honor may be given to those noble women instrumental in its organization, the Presidents of the Tennessee and Georgia Divisions move jointly that a committee composed of five members, from other States than their own, be appointed to consider all available correspondence and testimony bearing on this subject, and prepare from this material a condensed sketch of the history of this order up to the date of the first published minutes of our organization, this committee to report to the next annual Convention.

On motion, the rules were suspended and the Convention proceeded to the election of officers for the ensuing year. Present officers were reelected by acclamation, as follows:

President—Mrs. Edwin G. Weed, of Jacksonville, Fla.

First Vice President—Mrs. W. W. Read, of New York.

Second Vice President—Mrs. S. T. McCullough, of Staunton, Va.

Recording Secretary—Mrs. John P. Hickman, of Nashville, Tenn.

Corresponding Secretary—Miss Mary F. Meares, of Wilmington, N. C.

Treasurer—Mrs. J. Jefferson Thomas, of Atlanta, Ga.

When the office of First Vice President was reached, Mrs. J. D. Beale, of Montgomery, Ala., who had been nominated for the office, moved that Mrs. Read be elected by acclamation, which was done.

The next place of meeting was then considered.

Miss Mary F. Meares presented Wilmington, N. C.

The Governor of South Carolina and the Mayor of Columbia presented Columbia, S. C.

Gen. John B. Gordon, Commandant of the United Confederate Veterans, presented Memphis, Tenn., to meet at the time of the United Confederate Veterans' Association.

The Mayor of Niagara City, N. Y., presented that city.

The Board of Woman Managers of the Pan-American Exposition presented the city of Buffalo, N. Y.

The claim of Wilmington was seconded by several members, who recalled the fact that twice before Wilmington had invited the Convention and withdrawn in favor of Richmond and Montgomery.

A delegate from South Carolina then withdrew the claim of Columbia, and Wilmington was unanimously chosen for the Convention of 1901.

An invitation was received from Florida to meet in Jacksonville, in 1902.

A discussion again arose as to the use of the word "national."

Mrs. Edwin H. O'Brien, of Virginia, said it was irrelevant,

Mrs. Edwin G. O'Brien, of Virginia, said it was irrelevant, as the question had been settled at a previous Convention, where "United Daughters of the Confederacy," and not "National Daughters of the Confederacy," was declared to be the name.

Mrs. J. Jefferson Thomas, of Georgia, reminded the Convention that the discussion and settlement of the question had occurred in Atlanta.

While the word "national" was being considered, its retention was advocated by Mrs. Tench, of Florida, and Mrs. Keller, of Arkansas, and opposed by Miss Adelia Dunovant, of Texas, whose remarks were enthusiastically received and ordered spread upon the Minutes.

A discussion of the term "nation" suddenly and unexpectedly arose by a delegate applying the term to the United States and giving emphasis to such application by the assertion that it was correct.

Instantly Mrs. A. T. Smythe, of Charleston, S. C., and Miss Adelia A. Dunovant, of Houston, Texas, were on the floor claiming recognition. The presiding officer, Mrs. E. G. Weed, ruled that Mrs. Smythe first obtained the floor, to which Miss Dunovant pleasantly yielded.

Upon the conclusion of Mrs. Smythe's discussion, Miss Dunovant, being recognized and invited forward by the President, said:

The remarks of the delegate from South Carolina (Mrs. Smythe), though ably presenting several important points upon the subject under discussion, yet they do not completely cover the question at issue, neither are they wholly without error; therefore I desire to supplement those remarks with two or three arguments. But, first, I would remove the error into which the delegate has fallen, when she says that "the United States is now a nation." I reply we are not a nation. The United States has never been a nation, either in the past or in the present. The sovereignty of the States is still sustained by the constitutions of the United States and the States and by the laws of the country—both Federal and State. An indubitable proof of this lies in the fact that Jefferson Davis was not brought to trial. The people of the North did not venture to submit his case to the Supreme Court of the United States, because they knew that by those laws they, his accusers, would stand forth to the world rebels, traitors, violators of the constitution of their country, desecrators of its flag.

A clear understanding of the nature of the government of the United States can only be obtained by going back to the formative period. That period furnishes, among its many unquestionable proofs, that this government is not a "nation," an evidence which can be presented with sufficient conciseness to admit its presentation in this brief discussion.

When the Constitution of the United States was submitted to the convention composed of delegates from the various States, the term, "nation," appeared in one of the clauses submitted. A delegate from Connecticut (Mr. Ellsworth) moved that the term, "nation," be stricken out. This motion was carried by a large majority. See how jealously our forefathers guarded against even the suggestion of centralization. Think of how, by the elimination of that objectionable term, "nation," they proclaimed that this government is a federative system of free, sovereign, and independent States—not a nation!

This motion to strike out the word "nation" was made, as already remarked, by a Northern delegate, a delegate from Connecticut. Men of the North were not always as they are now; though even now some are truer to the principles of the government established by their forefathers and our forefathers than are some of the men of our own Southland.

At this declaration several of the delegates rose from their seats, exclaiming: "No, no; all the men of the South are true!" With the reply, "Why, some of them vote with the Republicans." Miss Dunovant Continued:

A nation is one political society. The United States are several political societies—as many as there are States—united in a general or federal government, those several societies delegating certain powers to their agent, the general government, but retaining their sovereignty, a sovereignty proceeding from sovereign man. This (the sovereignty of the States) is the foundation stone upon which rests our Federal government. The Union is but the creature or common agent of the States, the States having created the Union. The North so formerly viewed it, as I have proved.

This is not a sectional question, or the dogma or theory of a political party; it is declared in and established by the Constitution of the United States, and by the various State constitutions; it is sustained by our laws, both Federal and State. If we fail to recognize it, we are throwing down the South's great bulwark of defense, we are destroying the very basis upon which our Association of United Daughters of the Confederacy stands; we cease to present to the world the moral grandeur of an organization of women banded together to be the vindicators of earth's noblest heroes, the men of the Confederacy; we cease to be the conservers of constitutional liberty.

I know that no Daughter of the Confederacy would consciously throw away her birthright. But, in applying the term, "nation," to the United States, we endanger our correct conception of the nature of the defense of the men whom we represent; we deter our Association from the attainment of its object, the vindication of the men of the Confederacy who fought and died in defense of the constitutional right of State sovereignty.

Miss Dunovant returned to her seat in the house.

Mrs. Keller, of Arkansas, rose to inquire the meaning of the word "national."

Miss Dunovant replied: "Why, 'national' is the adjective of the substantive 'nation.'"

Mrs. Keller then set forth her defense of the term "nation" as applied to the United States, saying that "England, Germany, and Russia are nations; and, therefore, the United States is a nation."

Miss Dunovant replied: "The countries referred to are monarchies, ruled by a king or emperor; the United States is a republic, with a representative government."

Mrs. Randolph, of Virginia, said she had promised in the morning not to bring the Jefferson Davis Monument Fund again before the Convention, and although it was expressly against the wish of Mrs. Weed, our President, she would announce that she had contributed $500 to the monument fund. This announcement was greeted with applause.

Mrs. Rounsaville, of Georgia, offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

In view of the fact that a strong and active Association of Daughters of the Confederacy other than our own exists in Missouri and has signified its desire to affiliate with the United Daughters of the Confederacy on certain conditions, therefore we move that a committee be appointed to confer with the Daughters of the Confederacy of Missouri and the Missouri Division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, and if possible arrange to unite these two State organizations on terms satisfactory to them and compatible with the constitution of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Mrs. C. B. Stone, Chairman of the Committee on the Revision of the Constitution and By-laws, being ready to submit the report of the committee, its consideration was postponed until to-morrow morning.

The Convention then adjourned to meet to-morrow at 9:30 A.M.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 17.

The Convention was called to order by the President at 9:30 A.M.

Proceedings were opened by the delegates repeating the Lord's Prayer, standing.

Mrs. C. B. Stone, of Texas, Chairman of the Committee of the Revised Constitution and By-laws, submitted the report of the committee.

On motion, the Constitution and By-laws were taken up, section by section, and discussed.

Mrs. E. H. O'Brien, of Virginia, arose to a point of inquiry, as to whether proxies could be transferred.

On motion of Mrs. Horton, of Aberdeen, Miss., transferred proxy votes were not allowed.

On motion of Mrs. Virginia F. McSherry, of West Virginia, it was ordered that the President should not recognize the same person more than twice on the same subject.

The Constitution and By-laws were then considered, section by section, freely discussed, and adopted by a viva voce vote.

On motion of Mrs. Virginia F. McSherry, of West Virginia, it was ordered that the Constitution and By-laws should be printed and distributed to the Chapters at the earliest possible time; also that the same should be incorporated in the Minutes of the Convention.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. C. B. Stone and the committee for their arduous work in the revision of the Constitution and By-laws.

On motion of Mrs. M. R. M. Rosenberg, of Texas, it was ordered that all Conventions of the United Daughters of the Confederacy should be closed by singing the "Doxology."

On motion of Mrs. M. C. Cantrill, of Kentucky, a rising vote of thanks was extended to the Jefferson Davis Monument Committee, and especial thanks were extended to Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Taylor for their efficient service.

Mrs. N. V. Randolph, of Virginia, was made the bearer of this especial courtesy.

Mrs. B. S. Robert, of Missouri, asked as an especial favor, having been born in Alabama, that she be allowed to express the thanks of the Convention for the beautiful courtesies extended by the Daughters of Montgomery.

Mrs. Allie C. Birch, of Montgomery, gained the floor and asked that the order of things be reversed, and that she be allowed to thank the Convention for having come to Montgomery, with the hope that they might have the pleasure of entertaining the Convention again at no distant date.

Mrs. J. M. Keller, of Arkansas, moved an adjournment until 8 o'clock.

The Convention reassembled at 8 o'clock.

The Minutes of the all-day session were read and approved.

On motion of Miss Florence Barlow, of Kentucky, the Convention commended to the United Daughters of the Confederacy the school books of the B. F. Johnson Publishing House, of Richmond, Va., as patriotic and reliable.

Mrs. V. C. Clopton, of Alabama, in her usual patriotic style, indorsed the resolution, when it was unanimously adopted.

Mrs. C. B. Stone, of Texas, offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That we adopt as our official organ the periodical known as the Lost Cause, which is published and edited by Miss Barlow and Mrs. Basil Duke.

This resolution was discussed by Mrs. Clopton, of Alabama; Mrs. Cooley, of Florida; Mrs. Cantrill, of Kentucky; Mrs. Tench, of Florida; and Mrs. Thomas, of Georgia.

The courtesy of the house was then extended to Mr. S. A.

Cunningham, the editor of the Confederate Veteran, the official organ of the Association.

Miss Barlow, the editor of the Lost Cause, was invited to make a statement, which statement was received with applause.

On a viva voce vote being taken, Mrs. Stone's resolution was lost.

Mrs. N. V. Randolph, of Virginia, offered the following resolution, which was adopted :

Resolved, That although the Confederate Veteran is the official organ of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, the Daughters of the Confederacy, appreciating the work done by Miss Barlow in the Lost Cause, suggest that each member use her influence in getting subscribers to the periodical, as Miss Barlow has offered one column to the Jefferson Davis Monument Fund.

Mrs. J. A. Rounsaville, of Georgia, offered the following resolution, which was adopted :

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed by the President to confer with the representatives of the Confederate Veteran and the Lost Cause, with the view of ascertaining which magazine could offer the greatest advantages and present the greatest claims for adoption as the official organ of our Association.

Mrs. S. E. Gabbett, of Georgia, offered the following resolution, which was adopted :

Resolved, That the thanks of this Convention be extended to Mr. Crankshaw, the manufacturer of the Cross of Honor, for the lovely boxes and numbering cards for the first issue of the crosses; and also to Mr. Crankshaw and his assistants for the valuable time expended by them in packing and expressing the crosses, answering innumerable letters, etc.

Mrs. Mary Cecil Cantrill, of Kentucky, offered the following resolution, which was adopted :

Resolved, That the United Daughters of the Confederacy authorize a special committee, to be known as the "Historical Memorial Souvenir Committee," to which shall be referred all memorials for the benefit of the work of this Association.

Resolved, That this Convention shall authorize the sale of its first piece of historic silver—a Jefferson Davis spoon—the net proceeds of which shall be devoted to the Davis Monument Fund, each State to be accredited in this fund for all sales made, either through individuals or Chapters.

Mrs. Norvell Otey Scott, of Virginia, had the following notice read to the Convention :

The Kirkwood Otey Chapter, of Lynchburg, Va., requests the Daughters knowing of any Confederate soldier buried at Lynchburg to communicate with Mrs. N. D. Eller, Secretary, or Mrs. Kirkwood Otey, President, of the Lynchburg Memorial Association, so that they may get the name and command of every Southern soldier buried there.

Mrs. N. G. Gray, Historical Memorial Regent of Kentucky, moved that the Convention extend to Mrs. E. W. Ayres, of the District of Columbia, a vote of thanks for the beautiful seal of the Confederate States which she had presented to each State Division, which was unanimously adopted.

The Corresponding Secretary was instructed to write to Mrs. Ayres and describe the scene in the Convention at the mention of her liberal donation of the reproduction of the seal of the Confederacy.

Mrs. N. V. Randolph offered the following resolution, which was adopted :

Resolved, That this Convention send greetings to the Philadelphia Chapter United Daughters of the Confederacy and congratulate it on having raised money sufficient to remove their prison dead from the National Cemetery in Germantown to Hollywood Cemetery, Richmond, where they will erect a monument, such privilege being denied them in the National Cemetery. This Chapter has had so many difficulties to contend with that we should give them every encouragement by special mention.

On motion of Miss Rutherford, of Georgia, the $30 expended by Mrs. Gabbett, the Custodian of the Cross of Honor, for postage, was ordered refunded ; and the Custodian of the Cross of Honor was allowed a Secretary at a salary of $100 a year.

The following amendment to the By-laws was adopted :

The Custodian of the Cross of Honor shall be elected annually by the Convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, to serve for one year or until her successor is elected.

Mrs. Franklin H. Elmore, of the Sophie Bibb Chapter, Montgomery, offered the following preamble and resolution, which were adopted :

Whereas, the members of this organized body of the United Daughters of the Confederacy have proven that they can argue like lawyers, rule like parliamentarians, and entertain like angels; and

Whereas, one of the Daughters contributed greatly to the pleasure of the Convention; therefore be it

Resolved, That we will make every effort to have Mrs. Martha T. Gielow invited to give an entertainment at each Convention.

The following telegrams were received during the Convention :

I return your loving greeting with sincere affection and gratitude.

V. JEFFERSON DAVIS.

Many thanks for kind congratulations. MRS. M. A. JACKSON.

Love and good wishes to the Daughters of the Confederacy.

KATIE CABELL CURRIE.

Resolutions of thanks to the city of Montgomery, the Daughters of Alabama, and the Chapters of Montgomery were eloquently and feelingly presented by Mrs. R. C. Cooley, of Florida: Mrs. Mary Cecil Cantrill, of Kentucky; Mrs. J. J. Prowell, of Louisiana; Mrs. B. S. Robert, of Missouri; Mrs. T. J. Latham, of Tennessee; Miss Jeannie D. Blackburn, of Kentucky; and Miss Mary F. Meares, of North Carolina.

Mrs. J. D. Beale, of Alabama, returned thanks, on behalf of the Montgomery Daughters, to Mrs. Rosenberg, of Texas, and Mrs. Pinckney Smith, of Louisiana, for bringing their Chapter flags with them, which had added so materially to the Convention hall, although the Galveston flag was draped in mourning.

The Minutes of the evening session were then read and approved, after which the Convention adjourned, by singing the "Doxology," to meet in Wilmington, N. C., on the second Wednesday in November, 1901, at 10 A.M.

Since the adjournment of the Convention, the President, Mrs. E. G. Weed, has appointed the following committees:

SOCIAL.

Never were Daughters more royally welcomed, more affectionately received, or more charmingly entertained than in this historic city.

The first reception was given on Wednesday afternoon, from 5 to 7 o'clock, by Mrs. John A. Kirkpatrick, President of the Alabama Division, at her elegant home, on South Court street, in honor of the officers of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, who assisted her in the reception. Mrs. Kirkpatrick's home was beautifully decorated in Confederate flags, red and white carnations, roses, and Southern smilax in profusion, and, with the elegant gowns of the callers, a more brilliant scene was seldom witnessed.

On the same evening the Cradle of the Confederacy Chapter Secession Chapter and the White House Association tendered a reception to the visiting Daughters at the Jefferson Davis Home, the first White House of the Confederacy. The entire lower floor of the historic old home was bedecked with Confederate colors and Southern smilax. Over the entire ceiling in the hall was stretched the Confederate flag, and in the room where the officers of the two Chapters and White House Association and officers of the United Daughters of the Confederacy received the hundreds of Daughters and Veterans was a handsome picture of Mr. Davis—our only President. The occasion will long be remembered.

On Thursday afternoon, from 5 to 7 o'clock, the Sophie Bibb and Dixie Chapters entertained at a brilliant reception at the Beauvoir Club, an elegant old colonial building, which was graciously tendered by the club to the two Chapters. The general officers of the United Daughters of the Confederacy were the guests of honor, the receiving party being the State President and officers of the two Chapters. The decorations and refreshments were exquisite.

After all this, there was still another treat in store for the Daughters, which has seldom been equaled. It was in a concert recital, by Mrs. Gielow, of Alabama, accompanied by Mrs. Sheridan, of Georgia, and Miss Harrison, of Alabama. One must have been there to have an idea of the delight of the occasion.

CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS

OF THE

United Daughters of the Confederacy,

Amended and Adopted at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 17, 1900.

CONSTITUTION.

ARTICLE I.—Name.

Section 1. The name or title of the association shall be "The United Daughters of the Confederacy," and its domicile shall be the place of residence of the Recording Secretary.

Sec. 2. Each State or Territorial organization shall be known as a Division, and designated by the name of the State or Territory in which it is located, and each local organization in that State or Territory as a Chapter of the said Division, such Chapters to be numbered consecutively, and designated by such names as they may select.

ARTICLE II.—Objects.

The objects of this association are historical, educational, memorial, benevolent, and social; to fulfill the duties of charity to the survivors of the war between the States and those dependent upon them; to collect and preserve the material for a truthful history of the war; to protect historic places of the Confederacy; to record the part taken by Southern women, as well in untiring effort after the war in the reconstruction of the South as in patient endurance of hardship and patriotic devotion during the struggle; to honor the memory of those who served and those who fell in the service of the Confederate States; and to cherish the ties of friendship among the members of the society.

ARTICLE III.—Organization of Chapters.

Section 1. Those women entitled to membership are the widows, wives, mothers, sisters, nieces, and lineal descendants of such men as served honorably in the Confederate army, navy, or civil service; or of those men, unfit for active duty, who loyally gave aid to the cause; also women and their lineal descendants, wherever living, who can give proof of personal service and loyal aid to the Southern cause during the war.

Sec. 2. Seven or more eligible women in any State or Territory, in which no Division exists, may organize a Chapter, and be chartered on application to the United Daughters of the Confederacy. All Chapters subsequently formed in that State or Territory shall apply, through the first Chapter, to the United Daughters of the Confederacy for their charters, until a State Division shall have been formed. No Chapter shall be chartered in any incorporated city or town in which a Chapter already exists, except by and with the consent of the State or Territorial Division in which said city or town may be situated. A fee of three dollars shall be paid to the United Daughters of the Confederacy for each charter.

Sec. 3. Nothing in this Constitution contained shall be construed as preventing any Division or Chapter from becoming legally incorporated under the laws of the State or Territory in which it is located, should it desire to do so.

Sec. 4. Each Chapter shall, on the first day of each succeeding February, pay into the treasury of the United Daughters of the Confederacy the sum of ten cents for each and every member who may at such date be in good standing on the roll of such Chapter.

Sec. 5. No person shall vote or hold office in more than one Chapter at the same time; and every person who may at any time be enrolled as a member of more than one Chapter shall, within thirty days thereafter, file with the Recording Secretary of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, and with the Secretary of each Chapter of which at that time she may be a member, a statement in writing, setting forth the name of the Chapter in which she desires to vote and hold office; and until such statement shall have been filed, such person shall not be entitled to vote or hold office in any Chapter of which she may be a member.

ARTICLE IV.—Organization of State Divisions.

Section 1. When three or more Chapters shall be organized in any State or Territory, it shall be the duty of the first or Charter Chapter to call a Convention for the purpose of organizing a State or Territorial Division. Such Convention shall be held at a time and place to be designated by the Charter Chapter, at which Convention each Chapter shall be entitled to one vote for every twenty-five members or fraction thereof, if such fraction be not less than seven.

Section 2. In case a Charter Chapter shall allow six months to expire, after the receipt of a request from two other Chapters of the same State or Territory to call a Convention for the purpose of organizing a State or Territorial Division, the next Chapter in order of organization shall be empowered to call such Convention.

Sec. 3. A State or Territorial Division shall be organized by the adoption of a Constitution and By-laws, none of which shall be inconsistent with any of the provisions of this Constitution, and by the election of a President and other proper officers. Any one or more representatives from any Chapter shall be authorized to cast the full vote to which such Chapter may be entitled. In case a Chapter is unable to send a delegate, its vote may or may not be cast by proxy, at the discretion of each State or Territorial Division.

Sec. 4. From and after the organization of a State or Territorial Division, all Chapters in such State or Territory shall be organized upon proper application for their charters to the United Daughters of the Confederacy, through the Division, paying to the Division such additional charter fee as it may fix.

Sec. 5. Each State or Territorial Division shall furnish blank applications for membership, to be used throughout that Division. These blanks may differ in form, but must not conflict with the qualifications for membership as set forth in this Constitution. The mode of electing and admitting members may also vary in each Division; provided, the qualifications for membership be not inconsistent with this Constitution.

ARTICLE V.—Conventions of U. D. C.

Section 1. Conventions of the United Daughters of the Confederacy shall be held annually, on the second Wednesday of November, at the place designated by the preceding Convention. The power is hereby vested in the President, at her discretion, to change the date or place of meeting, in case of unavoidable or insurmountable obstacles which may arise, such as flood, fire, or epidemic.

Sec. 2. Each Chapter shall be entitled, in all Conventions of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, to one vote for every twenty-five members or fraction thereof not less than seven. Any one or more representatives from any such Chapter shall be authorized to cast the full vote to which such Chapter may be entitled. Any Chapter may be represented by proxy, provided such proxy be duly appointed in writing, and be a resident of the State or Territory in which such Chapter is located, except that in case a State or Territory sends no delegate the proxy may be a non-resident.

Sec. 3. The President of each State or Territorial Division shall be entitled to one vote in all Conventions of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. No State President shall have authority to cast her individual vote by proxy.

Sec. 4. No member of the Executive Committee shall act as proxy, except for her own State when it has no other representative present.

ARTICLE VI.—Officers.

The officers of the United Daughters of the Confederacy shall be:

- A President.
- A First Vice President.
- A Second Vice President.
- A Recording Secretary.
- A Corresponding Secretary.
- A Treasurer.

All of whom shall be elected to serve one year, and until their successors shall be elected and qualify.

ARTICLE VII.—Committees.

Section 1. An Executive Committee, composed of the President (who shall be chairman of the committee), the two Vice Presidents, the Recording Secretary, the Corresponding Secretary, and the Treasurer. Said committee shall be vested with power to conduct the general affairs of the association, and to meet whenever business demands. It shall have supervision and control of all the property and affairs of the association. Special meetings of the committee, for the transaction of particular or urgent business, may be called by the President at any time, and shall be called at the written request of a majority of the members. The action of the Executive Committee shall be reported to the next annual Convention.

Sec. 2. A Committee on Finance, composed of five members, to whom shall be referred all matters of receipts and expenditures. They shall, in addition to their other duties, audit the books of the Treasurer annually, and at such times as they may be ordered to do so by the President.

Sec. 3. A Committee on History, to be composed of five members; Committee on Transportation, Committee on Credentials, Committee on Condensing Minutes.

ARTICLE VIII.—Certificates of Membership.

Section 1. Certificates of membership shall be furnished by each Chapter to all members in good standing. Such certificates shall be supplied, with seal attached, by the United Daughters of the Confederacy, at a cost of ten cents each. These certificates must be signed by the President and Secretary of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, the President of the State or Territorial Division, and the President and Secretary of the local Chapter.

Sec. 2. A member in good standing of any Chapter, desiring to change her membership, shall be entitled to receive from her Chapter a dimit, certifying that she is a member in good standing, which, if presented within six months, shall make good her membership in any Chapter to which she may be acceptable.

ARTICLE IX.—Badges, Insignia, Seals.

Section 1. The badge to be worn by the Daughters of the Confederacy shall consist of a representation of the Confederate flag (stars and bars), in white, blue, and scarlet enamel, surrounded by a laurel wreath, with the monogram "D. C." under the flag, and dates "'61-'65" on loops of bow tying wreath. Divisions and Chapters may use, in addition, a badge of their own.

Sec. 2. The seal of the United Daughters of the Confederacy shall be a reproduction of the great seal of the Confederate States of America, with the addition of the inscription, "United Daughters of the Confederacy," on the outer rim.

Sec. 3. The seals for all State or Territorial Divisions shall be of the same design, with the addition of the name of the Division in the outer rim; provided, however, that any State or Territorial Division which may so prefer shall have the right to use the seal of its own State or Territory, with the addition of the name of the Division upon the outer rim.

Sec. 4. All charters or other official documents emanating from the United Daughters of the Confederacy shall bear the impress of its great seal and be signed by the President and Recording Secretary.

Sec. 5. The use of the name, seal, and badge of the United Daughters of the Confederacy for business purposes, other than the business of this association, is expressly prohibited.

ARTICLE X.—Days of Observance.

The birthday of Jefferson Davis, sole President of the Confederate States (June 3), and that of Robert E. Lee, our peerless leader (January 19), shall have annual observance by this association.

ARTICLE XI.—Manual.

“The Woman’s Manual of Parliamentary Law,” by Harriet R. Shattuck, shall be the authority on parliamentary rules at all Conventions of this association.

ARTICLE XII.—Amendments.

This Constitution may be amended by a two-thirds vote at any Convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy; provided, notice of such intention to amend, with substance of proposed amendment, be filed with the Recording Secretary at least forty-five days before the day fixed for the Convention. Within ten days after the receipt of such notice, the Recording Secretary shall forthwith extend the same to each of the officers of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, to the President and Secretary of each State or Territorial Division, and to the President and Secretary of each Chapter.

BY-LAWS.

ARTICLE I.—Duties of Officers.

Section 1. The President—or, in her absence, the next Vice President in authority—shall preside at regular or called meetings of the association.

Sec. 2. The President shall be the chief executive officer of the association, and shall have general charge of its affairs and supervision of all the other officers. She shall be chairman of the Executive Committee, shall have the right to attend the meetings of all committees appointed by the association, and shall discharge all such duties as usually appertain to the office of President. In case of a tie the President has the right to cast the deciding vote.

Sec. 3. The Vice Presidents shall assist the President in the discharge of her duties, and in her absence the one next in rank shall assume all the duties and responsibilities appertaining to the office of President; and they shall also be members of the Executive Committee.

Sec. 4. The Recording Secretary shall be the custodian of the great seal and all historic and official papers of the association. All matters for record shall be turned over to her and be kept by her in her office. It shall also be her duty to issue charters and certificates of membership and have all official printing done. She shall also keep a minute book, in which shall be entered an accurate record of the proceedings of all meetings of the association, either regular or special. Under her supervision there shall be prepared and published, in pamphlet form, the minutes of the Annual Convention, after they have been examined and approved by a committee appointed for that purpose. She shall also discharge all other duties that may appertain to her office. She shall take all votes of the Convention by a call of the roll of States. Her expenses to all Conventions shall be paid by the association. She shall also publish in the official organ of the association the lists of the newly-elected officers of each Division as soon as she receives them.

Sec. 5. The Corresponding Secretary shall conduct all correspondence between the association and the State and Territorial Divisions, the Chapters, and other persons. She shall notify all members of the committees of their appointments, and forward the names of the members of the committees to the chairmen thereof. She shall issue all notices and communications relating to the Annual Convention or other Conventions of the United Daughters of the Confederacy to the Secretaries of each State or Territorial Divisions, to be by them forwarded to the Chapters. She shall conduct any and all other correspondence under the direction of the President. She shall discharge such other duties as may appertain to her office.

Sec. 6. The Treasurer shall be the financial agent of the association. She shall receive all moneys, and receipt for the same. She shall send out annually the blank forms of returns to be made by the Chapters, such returns to be forwarded to her. She shall, sixty days before the meeting of each General Convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, send notices to the Secretary of each State Division of the names and location of all delinquent Chapters, notifying her that if the dues of such Chapter or Chapters are not paid within ten days before the meeting of the Annual Convention, those Chapters will be debarred representation in the Convention. She shall keep (1) a cash-book, and (2) a ledger, in which shall be entered all accounts of the association. Her books, papers, etc., shall be subject to the inspection of the Finance Committee and the officers of the association. She shall make a report of the condition of her department at each annual meeting, or oftener when called upon by the President, showing the receipts and expenditures, with the balance remaining on hand, and, at the close of her term of office, furnish a full statement, together with all vouchers and papers relating thereto, to the association. She shall keep the money of the association in some national bank, to be paid only upon her check, when countersigned by the President, or, in the absence of the President, by the Vice President in order. Such money shall be paid out as ordered by the association or by the Executive Committee. Her expenses to all Conventions shall be paid by the association.

ARTICLE II.—Committees.

Section 1. It shall be the duty of the Committee on History to correspond with the Historians of the several State and Territorial Divisions, and in every way in their power to forward the interests of correct and impartial history. Historians of the several State and Territorial Divisions will make annual report of the work accomplished in their Divisions to the chairman of this committee.

Sec. 2. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Transportation to arrange rates of transportation to and from all General Conventions.

Sec. 3. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Credentials to meet on the day previous to the Convention to approve and arrange the credentials of delegates.

Sec. 4. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Condensing Minutes to assist the Recording Secretary to condense the verbatim report of the minutes.

ARTICLE III.—Assessments and Dues.

Section 1. Any Chapter being in arrears in the payment of dues for six months shall not be entitled to representation in the Conventions of the association, and shall stand suspended; provided, that any sus-pendent Chapter shall be restored to membership in good standing, by the payment, ten days before the meeting of the Annual Convention, of all indebtedness due by it to the Association at the time of its suspension.

Sec. 2. No Chapter shall be allowed representation in the Conventions of the United Daughters of the Confederacy if reported not in good standing by the Division through which it was chartered.

ARTICLE IV.

It shall be the duty of each Annual Convention of United Daughters of the Confederacy to elect a Custodian for the Cross of Honor, the term of office of said Custodian to be one year, or until her successor is elected.

ARTICLE V.—Amendments.

Amendments may be made to these By-laws at any meeting by a two-thirds vote of the members present.

RULES OF ORDER.

In the transaction of business, this association shall be governed by the usual rules of procedure and debate that govern deliberative assemblies.
